Stars and Stocks Split.
A Happy Moment.
Learning to Live.
Obregon, Be Warned.

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1928, Star Co.

FROM SOUTH AFRICA astronomers send word the great star Nova Pictoris has split in two.

We are excited on this little earth ball when a big stock "splits two for one." If we were a few billion miles nearer Nova Pictoris, we should have a new meaning for "split." How safely we live in our little corner of space with fearful cataclysms around us. We should be grateful.

The bears had a happy moment yesterday while Wall Street bought and sold 4,875,660 shares of stock, breaking all records since the beginning of time, and General Motors dropped nearly twenty points. They were not so happy when it climbed back again above 190. As Mayor Thompson of Chicago would say, any advice not to sell the stock market short "goes double" for General Motors.

Some poor bears celebrated by selling "Radio" short. Bulls were ready to buy a quarter of a million shares of that stock. The bears' paws were burned. Radio rose $12.

PASTE THIS IN YOUR HAT. INVEST. DON'T GAMBLE, DON'T SELL SHORT.

American business men are learning to prolong life. John D. Rockefeller, one of the hardest workers, who has given away half a billion, is well on his way to ninety. George F. Baker, one of the world's three richest men, celebrated his eighty-eighth birthday yesterday and will soon come back from Georgia to New York, tired of being away from business.

In the old days of Jay Gould fighting business men did not live long. They had not learned how to eat or when to exercise.

Ex-President Obregon thinks Mexico needs prohibition. Alcohol, says he, "is the enemy of the republic." If he will put on a bullet-proof suit and inspect some of our better bootleg districts, he will find that bootlegging can also be an enemy.

Obregon should take away from Mexicans their horrible pulque, close to wood alcohol, and persuade Mexicans to drink light wine and beer.

If he tries absolute prohibition, he will succeed no better than we do, and will be getting bootleg pulque, if possible even worse than the original article.

Ogden Mills, assistant secretary of the Treasury, tells Yale boys that newspapers are important and "raise or lower the tone of national life."

It is national life that raises or lowers the tone of newspapers. Civilization creates them and they reflect civilization, they don't create it.

The editor who thinks he makes the world go round is in a class with the editor of the "Skibbereen Eagle" who said "We have our eye on the Czar of Russia."

United States Senator Deneen, according to the Associated Press, attended the funeral of "Diamond Joe" Esposito, notorious gang leader, murdered by his followers.

Now Senator Deneen's Chicago house is bombed, presumably by those that disapproved of Esposito.

It seems dangerous for United States Senators to attend funerals of gang leaders, even when they are good Republican workers.

Postmaster John M. Garrett, of Moulton, Ia., believes there is no such thing as "the ether," therefore radio cannot travel through ether. "I am instructed to offer ten thousand dollars in gold for substantial proof that ether exists in our atmosphere."

Existence of the ether cannot be physically proved. But scientists, from Newton on, have believed in its existence, for such

HIRED MAN TREATED IN HOSPITAL FOR GUN SHOT WOUND IS DETAINED

Rutland, Vt., March 28—One hour after the hammer-battered body of James Delehanty, 45, was found beneath a lumber pile on his Hydeville farm today, his hired man, R. Collins, walked into Rutland Hospital, asked for medical treatment and was placed under arrest.

Police Chief Roy H. Leonard stationed himself at Collins' bedside after the latter had been treated for a gun-shot wound on his hand and informed him he was under arrest as a suspicious person.

Delehanty lived alone on the farm which he had conducted for the last 18 years for Mrs. Clara Davis, a Rhode Island school teacher. Collins had become his hired man two weeks ago.

Delehanty apparently was murdered in his bedroom and the body

PRINCE ELOPES WITH RICH AMERICAN BLONDE

London, March 28 (INS)—Prince Charles Philippe, Duke de Nemours, a relative of King Albert of Belgium, and Miss Margaret "Peggy" Watson, a beautiful blonde-haired American girl, of Washington, D. C., who eloped from Paris, were believed to be in seclusion in London today while preparing for their marriage.

Friends believed that they will try to be married secretly owing to the opposition of the duke's family to the match.

It is understood that representations already have been made to the British Foreign Office to have the registry bureau refuse a marriage license to the couple. According to news from Brussels and Paris, the Duchess de Vendome, mother of Prince Charles, appealed to her cousin, Kint Albert, to halt the match.

Miss Watson, who was born in Richmond, Va., and made her debut in Washington, has been living in Paris. She was once reported en-

DRAFT BILL TO SAVE NAVAL OIL RESERVES

Washington, March 28 (INS)—A new draft of the Navy Department's bill to protect naval oil reserves from drainage by private companies was virtually completed by a House naval affairs sub-committee today.

With committee sentiment already apparently in favor of the measure, it is expected to be reported to the House this week for action.

The new draft was demanded by some members who declared the President should be jointly responsible with the Secretary of the Navy for any trades designed to clear all lessees out of Elk Hill Reserve No. 51 in California.

In appealing for the bill, Secretary

FIRE WRECKS POLICEMAN'S HOME

MRS. HENCHY

HOW INTERIOR LOOKS NOW

Patrolman Chester A. Henchy and his wife were among the six families who escaped from apartment house fire at 163 East Cottage st., Dorchester. The officer's home on the second floor is a sorry looking sight.

TRAPPED BY FIRE

Mrs. Henchy was carried out by husband who dashed back to arouse tenants asleep in the building.

RADIO TAKES LEAD IN LAST HOUR OF TRADING

Radio Corp. common leaped again into the forefront of the speculative limelight in the last hour in Wall Street today. The stock sold at $175.50, a new high, up from its day's low of $161.50.

Advance of call money to 5 per cent slowed the market only temporarily. The rally came so fast that the ticker fell 35 minutes behind the market. Many quotations became indecipherable in the swamping rush.

HUB WOMAN IN COMA MYSTIFIES DOCTORS

Limp, inert and in a critical condition, Florence Kirwin, attractive operator of furnished apartments at 1191 Boylston st., lay in a mystery coma today at City hospital while police sought a man and a woman who may be able to shed some light on the cause for her plight.

The woman was found crumpled on the floor of her apartment by police who were called early today after neighboring tenants heard her fall and then cry out:

"My God—get a doctor."

Special Officer Frank McNabb, with other officers of the Back Bay station, forced the apartment door, found the unconscious woman and rushed her to the City Hospital.

At the hospital physicians declared themselves puzzled over her condition. They suspected poison immediately, but a thorough washing of her stomach failed to reveal any signs of a poison dose. Neither did she evince any outward symptoms of poisoning.

There are no marks of violence.

POLICEMAN HERO AS 6 FLEE DORCHESTER FIRE

The lives of six families were imperiled by a fire early today in the three-story apartment house at 163 East Cottage st., Dorchester.

An investigation of the blaze centered around the report of Deputy Chief Walter McLean that an overheated furnace and hot ashes started the blaze.

The fire drove a score of persons from neighboring houses to the street in scanty attire.

The fact that no tragedies resulted was due to the efforts of Patrolman Chester A. Henchy of Station 11 who was trapped on the second floor of the building after he had succeeded in rousing other tenants. Henchy was awakened by shouts of George Miller, an employe of a nearby garage who discovered smoke pouring from the cellar windows.

The police officer carried his wife

GEM THIEVES ROB HOME OF SENATE HEAD; THINK WOMAN IS AIDING GANG

Wellington Wells, president of the Senate, was today revealed by the police as the latest victim of an organized gang of thieves which has looted numerous homes of jewelry, clothing and other valuables in Boston during the past month.

Wells' home at 171 Bay State rd. was entered by members of the gang, and jewelry valued at $1500 taken. The break occurred during the daytime and as in other recent cases not a single clue was left by the thieves.

Three additional breaks were reported today and certain aspects of two lead police to believe that at least one woman is a member of the gang.

Valuable furs and other articles of women's apparel were taken in these two instances.

Today's breaks, reported on the heels of the $2500 jewelry theft from the Beacon st. home of Mrs. Mary C. Prout on Sunday, stirred police headquarters officials to the realization that they have no ordinary petty thieves, picking [illegible] which to [illegible]

GERMAN FLIERS HELD UP UNTIL TOMORROW

Dublin, March 28—Strong westerly winds which made transatlantic flying too perilous compelled the German ace, Capt. Herman Koehl, to postpone his hopoff to America until tomorrow. Koehl and his two companions had hoped to leave Baldonnel in their Junkers monoplane Bremen today, but flying conditions at dawn were unfavorable and failed to improve.

"We hope for better weather tomorrow," said Koehl.

In addition to strong winds off the Irish coast the British air ministry reported stormy weather in mid-Atlantic.

Baron von Huenefeld, who will accompany Pilot Koehl as a passenger, said the fliers would be guided by the air ministry weather bulletins in making their plans.

Reports received here today from Hamburg weather bureau said that conditions are so unfavorable at the present time that a "transatlantic flight would be 100 per cent suicide."

A great deal of confusion has ex-

MRS. COOLIDGE HELPS MOTHER'S LIFE FIGHT

Northampton, March 28—Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, aged mother of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, continued to improve today, due to the presence of her daughter, according to a statement issued at the Dickinson Hospital by Dr. Justin E. Hayes, after a conference with Lieut.-Comdr. Joel T. Boone, White House physician.

The formal statement read: "The patient had a comfortable night and is much improved."

Dr. Hayes supplemented this in a conversation with newspapermen by saying:

"Mrs. Goodhue's condition is very much improved over what it was before Mrs. Coolidge arrived."

Dr. Hayes pointed out that, due to the advanced years of Mrs. Goodhue, who is 78, there was a possibility that she might suffer a reverse at any time.

listed as to the identity of the relief pilot. When the plane left Berlin on Monday it carried Arthur Spindler, a skilled mechanic, along with Koehl and Von Huenefeld. Upon the arrival at Baldonnel airdrome it was stated that Fritz Loose would take Spindler's place. However, Spindler is here and there is every indication that he will be the third member of the party.

While Mitchel Field, New York, has generally been accepted as the destination of the German airmen, the possibility exists that they may attempt to reach Philadelphia if conditions permit.

It is understood that the offer of a Philadelphia newspaper of a $25,000 prize to the first airmen making a non-stop flight from a European capital to the Pennsylvania city still holds good.

The airmen are going to travel light. They will carry only their flying clothes and their food will consist mainly of hot coffee and tea, taken in thermos bottles, bars of chocolate and ham and chicken sandwiches.

Present indications are that the Bremen will follow the steamship lanes. It may go even further south if the fliers regard it as desirable since they are particularly anxious to avoid the risk of ice forming on the plane.

Capt. Koehl and Spindler will sit side by side in the cockpit, each having a complete set of controls. They will keep their seats throughout the voyage.

Baron von Huenefeld will act as cook and steward for his companions and keep the log book. He will have a compartment to himself.

The plane will carry 2500 litres (about 600 gallons) of gasoline, enabling it to remain 40 hours in flight. The flyers hope to reach New York within 36 hours.

Capt. Koehl said he believed it was desirable to make a start early in the day so as to reach New York by daylight. The distance is about 3500 miles.

Crosscup-Pishon Post Head to Meet Fliers in New York

Governor Fuller today appointed Travers D. Carman, commander of the Crosscup-Pishon Post of the American Legion, to act as his official representative on the reception committee which will greet the German transatlantic flyers upon their arrival in New York.

Carman is the American Legion representative on the committee. He is already in New York, bearing from Mayor Nichols an invitation to the flyers to visit Boston.

From the German Consul General today, the Crosscup-Pishon Post received a letter of appreciation for the wishes for success extended yesterday by cable to the flyers awaiting favorable weather. In the membership of the post are a number of flyers who during the war engaged in combat with the flying circus commanded by Capt. Herman Koehl, who leads the transatlantic attempt.

such as bruises or cuts, on her body and no untoward noises were heard in her apartment prior to her out cry.

Mrs. Kirwin operates and sub-lets several furnished apartments at the Boylston st. address. It was in one of these that her anguished cry was heard.

Mrs. William Henry, wife of the janitor, was notified and she rode up to the Kirwin floor in the elevator, another woman ascending in the lift at the same time.

When Mrs. Henry began to beat on the door in an attempt to rouse Mrs. Kirwin the strange woman cried out: "Why, Florence, what's the matter? What's the matter?" Then she turned away suddenly and ran down the stairs.

Mrs. Henry telephoned the Back Bay police and Officer McNabb and others were sent over with the ambulance.

The mystery woman and a man who, according to what police have learned, is a close friend of Mrs. Kirwin, are now being sought in hope they may be able to clear up the mystery.

HEARST PLANE DELAYED BY MECHANICAL TROUBLE

Dallas, Tex., March 28 (INS)—Mechanical difficulties held up the westward cruise of the New York American's all-America tour airplane 24 hours here, delaying the scheduled flight to El Paso.

Because the remainder of the route to the west coast lies through a great deal of desert and mountain country, with few places adapted to a safe emergency landing, Pilot Hopkins declined to go ahead until he was satisfied the plane's motor was in tip-top condition.

carried to a field behind the barn and covered with lumber. Besides the injuries to his head his throat had been cut.

The body was found by a brother, Leo Delehanty, who was called when neighbors failed to notice Delehanty about his usual morning chores. The brother found a bloody trail leading from the bedroom and followed it to the pile of lumber.

Hydeville is sixteen miles from Rutland, toward the New York State line. First information of what police believe to have been a murder was received here when Rutland police were telephoned by a farmer neighbor of Delehanty.

State's Atty. Lawrence C. Jones was informed immediately by the Rutland police and the hospitals in a radius of fifty miles were notified to be on watch for any man who might call and ask for attention.

Collins entered the Rutland Hospital an hour after the finding of the body and the police were notified.

A blood-stained hammer was found near the body of Delehanty.

TENANTS NOT TO LOSE WATER

Although a fight still looms over the question, city officials now agree that shutting off of water, where landlords fail to pay water bills, should not be resorted to by the city.

This was the explanation today by Councillor Robert G. Wilson, Jr., of Dorchester, one of a committee of seven who investigated the shutting off of water to four Freeport st. families.

"The orderly and fair method of procedure—as agreed by City Auditor Carven, Engineer James A. McMurray and Asst. Corporation Counsel Joseph Lyons—is to enforce the lien law of the State, placing responsibility squarely on the tax-evading owners, where it belongs, and not on blameless tenants," said Councillor Wilson.

Where the difference of opinion arises on the question whether the city should repeal the city ordinance which gives it the right to shut off water if it wishes, Mayor Nichols and other officials, while advocating procedure under the lien law, think the city should retain its other right.

to hold it, selected Boston as a likely field, police believe.

The break at the Wells home was effected during broad daylight while the house was untenanted. Thieves "jimmied" the front door to enter and worked swiftly inside, passing up cumbersome articles of worth in selecting their loot from among Wells personal jewelry.

The articles stolen included a gold fob, set with three cameos and valued at $700; a wrist watch, a leather case containing three diamond studs, platinum cuff links set with pearls, a set of pearl studs, two Masonic jewels and a gold stick-pin bearing a Masonic emblem, a leather case with six gold stick-pins, a gold watch chain, a gold cigar cutter and two gold knives.

MEDALS AMONG LOOT.

Four gold medals were taken, one each of "Sons of the Revolution," "American Revolution," "Colonial Wars," and "Founders of Peace." Stolen also was an old Greek coin of gold, prized highly by the Senate head.

A second break reported today was at the home of Jean MacKey, 788 Beacon st. There, also, entrance was gained by forcing the front door. A fur coat valued at $350, a cloth coat trimmed with monkey fur and a week-end case, presumably used to carry the loot, were taken.

The scene of this break is but a short distance from the Prout home at 872 Beacon st., where jewelry valued at $2500 was stolen in a theft reported Sunday. Included in the valuables taken from the Prout home was a medal conferred upon the late William C. Prout when he was made a Knight of St. Gregory by the Pope.

Other breaks reported today and attributed to the members of the same gang were at the apartment of Helen Mullin, 111 Warren st., Roxbury, and at that of Anne Shulman, 63 Intervale st., Roxbury. A fur coat valued at $350 and table linen valued at $50 were stolen from the former. A pocketbook containing $40 was taken from Miss Shulman's home.

About a month ago, Police Superintendent Crowley broadcast a general order censuring patrolmen for being lax in their efforts to catch thieves and holdup men.

Deputy Chiefs Teehan and Kelly, in charge of the apparatus responding to the first alarm, managed to confine most of the damage to the first and second floors. Damage was estimated at $7500.

TRADE GOOD, BLOOMFIELD TELLS PRES. COOLIDGE

Washington, March 28 (AP)—President Coolidge was told today by Myer Bloomfield of Boston and New York, an industrial consultant, that on the whole the industrial situation of the country is wholesome.

In the course of a 15-minute talk with the President, Bloomfield related the results of a personal labor survey of the country which he said showed that although trade was at present somewhat slow, improvement could be looked for in the spring and summer. Bloomfield predicted activity in construction which would provide considerable relief for unemployment.

Girls Kiss Gallant Cop Who Chases Marbles

Wait till Traffic Officer Jim Dooley's wife reads that he was kissed by two girls today in Revere and picked up the marbles!

Rather, he picked up the marbles first and then was smacked by the young ladies.

Officer Dooley learned a lot through the kisses, however—as men sometimes do learn—principally that the Revere schoolgirls are better marble players than their schoolboy companions and win all the agates and marbles from the braggart sex.

The officer was at his post in Broadway in front of City Hall today when two 13-year-old girls started across. Each held a large paper bag in her hand, but when directly in front of the traffic box one girl tripped and fell. The bag ceased to function as a container, marbles and agates rolled in all directions, and the chagrined lady began to cry.

Officer Dooley almost fell himself in stumbling out of the stand. With sympathetic pedestrians aiding, the policeman collected more marbles than he ever won himself back in those halcyon days.

Then the grateful girl kissed him. Not to be outdone in girlish courtesy, her companion kissed him also.

Officer Dooley, who had held up all traffic, stumbled back on the stand and waved the motors majestically on.

SHOW GIRL WHO BARRED TIGHTS WINS $150,000,000

Ex-Chorus Girl Wins Fortune — From Tobacco King Who — Cuts Off His Son

HER FABULOUS FORTUNE COMES FROM REFUSAL

New York, March 27 (INS)—Lady Mortimer Davis has a title and a fortune reputed to be $150,000,000—and all because she wouldn't wear tights in a burlesque show.

She is the widow of Sir Mortimer Davis, the Canadian tobacco king and banker, who has just died in France. If Paris dispatches are correct, her husband has willed all of his fortune to her and completely disinherited his son Mortimer Davis, Jr., and the latter's wife, the former Rosie Dolly, of the world-famous dancing team known as the Dolly Sisters.

In high financial and social circles here there is skepticism that Sir Mortimer has cut his son off without a cent and many persons believe this report will be disproved when the will is probated in Montreal within the next week. Meanwhile Lady Davis has arranged to bring her husband's body from Cannes to Montreal.

REFUSED TO WEAR TIGHTS

The romance of Lady Davis and Sir Mortimer dates back to the time when as a show girl, she refused to wear tights. She was not born to the royal purple, having started life as plain Eleanor Curran of New Orleans. Her first job when she left school was in a telegraph office. Later she became a manicurist. Then the stage called.

She went on the road with a burlesque troup. She traveled for four years, becoming a seasoned trouper. Yet when, in 1912, the "Girl From Dixie" company came back to her home town Eleanor Curran refused to wear tights on the stage.

Count Moroni was in the audience the night she refused to appear with tights and fell in love with her. After Col. Samuel P. Colt invited them to his estate in R. DAD-IN-LAW IS PEACEMAKER IN 'PEACHES' CASE

Larchmont, N. Y., March 28 (INS)—Bernard Sweeney, wealthy Rochester, N. Y., insurance man, was to intervene today in the quarrel between his daughter, Mrs. Katherine Allen of this city, and her husband, Edgar Allen, a vaudeville manager.

Mrs. Allen has barred her husband from the Allen mansion here because she thinks he has been showing more than a professional interest in Frances ("Peaches") Browning, vaudeville performer and wife of Edward W. Browning, elderly millionaire.

Sweeney was due to arrive from Rochester this morning. It was said that he would attempt to patch up the differences between the Allens. The magnitude of his task was indicated by Mrs. Allen's latest ultimatum from the battlefront, as follows:

"My husband can never come back to my house again. I have sent all his belongings away and I never want to see him again."

Mrs. Allen shipped her husband's belongings to a hotel at which "Peaches" was staying. That was after she made the charge that her husband had taken one of her bracelets and presented it to the vaudeville actress.

At that time Mrs. Allen said she would sue her husband for a separation. Today, however, she said she had no intention of beginning any legal action against him.

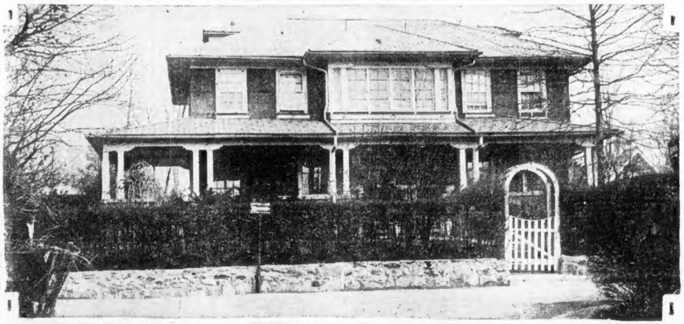
DID 'PEACHES' KISS HUBBY?

CALLS 'PEACHES' A VAMP
Mrs. Katherine Allen, who charges that her husband, a booking agent, is too friendly with "Peaches" Browning. She has barred him from home and "doesn't want him back."



WHERE WIFE SAYS AGENT FETED 'PEACHES' AT PARTY
Here's the $100,000 Allen home in which Mrs. Allen says her husband held a "two-some" with "Peaches." An ex-valet says Allen gave "Peaches" a diamond bracelet and "Peaches" gave him back a kiss. Then the wife heard about it and the trouble started.

UTAH'S ARRIVAL GIVES WORK TO NAVY YARD

Bearing the promise of work for many navy yard employes, the battleship Utah made a publicly unannounced arrival in Boston harbor today and was warped into the big South Boston Drydock.

After minor repairs and a survey the vessel will depart to return on April 16 for complete reconditioning at the navy yard.

Workmen began making the small repairs today. The South Boston dock was used because all the navy yard drydocks are occupied.

Secretary of the Navy Wilbur disclosed a week ago that the Boston Navy Yard was to get two battleships and other vessels for overhauling this year, but added that these plans were only tentative.

With the appearance of the Utah today it became known for the first time that Boston was to get this big job in the near future.

HOUSE ACTS TO SAVE NAVAL OIL RESERVE

of the Navy Wilbur declared the great reserve is in danger of being drained by a Standard Oil Co. lease in the heart of it.

This direct action followed publication in the Hearst newspapers of an authenticated expose of the British operations in American oil fields.

Warning Congress that a situation may develop in which private oil companies holding property in the heart of the naval oil reserve No. 2, may start producing on a large scale and "take the cream" of the naval reserve, Secretary Wilbur urged that authority be given the navy to make an arrangement with the private companies under which the government would receive oil drained from the reserve.

The Navy Department is at present helpless against such a contingency, he said. It has no funds to sink "offset" wells along the edge of the privately-owned land to take oil from the private pool in exchange for that extracted by the private companies from the government's reserve, he pointed out.

As it is the policy of the Government to conserve the oil in the reserve, it is loath to sink "offset" wells and it would prefer authority to make a contract with private companies for compensatory royalties, covering the amount of oil drained from Uncle Sam's reserve, he said. Sinking of "offset" wells would speed up depletion of the reserve.

Several members of the naval committee believe that the Secretary of the Navy should be limited to operations on the reserve and that he should have presidential approval before contracting with private companies for compensatory royalty.

Representative James V. McClintic (D.) of Oklahoma, offered an amendment to that effect to the Butler bill, filed at the request of Secretary Wilbur.

"We must guard our naval oil reserves, estimated at between 600,000,000 and 700,000,000 barrels at naval reserve No. 2, against all contingencies, so that we will have oil for our navy in the event of war," declared Britten, continuing:

"Revelations in the Hearst newspapers, substantiated by Rear-Admr. Rosseaux, that a large part of America's oil production is going abroad, that two-thirds of the gasoline consumed in Europe comes from the United States, should give those responsible for national defense cause to consider our position.

"If the British oil interests are out to deplete America's reserves so that they will have a world monopoly through their holdings in other countries, our first step would be to put a seal on the Government reserves."

Hearst Aid in Oil Probe Praised

THE Hearst newspapers were commended today by noted men of Greater Boston for their movement toward indictment of H. M. Blackmer and J. E. O'Neil, expatriated oil magnates.

"The entire rotten trail should be uncovered," Representative Roland D. Sawyer of Ware declared.

"After repeated failure to secure the naval oil reserve during the Roosevelt and Wilson administrations, the use of a corruption fund of $3,000,000 enabled the oil gang to secure the same from the Harding administration.

"This constitutes the biggest national scandal our Government has ever known. The Hearst newspaper service is to be commended for using its great influence and tremendous power to uncover information to that end."

Other comments follow:

CHAIRMAN FRANCIS E. SLATTERY, of schoolhouse commission: —Every means should be taken to establish facts in the oil scandal. If the facts justify indictments, it seems to me part of justice to protect society and render them.

DANIEL J. HARKINS, New England passenger manager for the United American Steamship Lines: —"If Blackmer and O'Neil are needed to clean up some points in this oil affair, by all means get them back here. Indict them if necessary if they will not return voluntarily to tell what they know. It would be a good thing for the country regardless of partisanship to have the country know the truth and the whole truth.

CLEMENT A. NORTON, superintendent of Commonwealth Pier. Everything should be done to clear up this smelly oil situation even if it means the indictment of H. M. Blackmer and J. E O'Neil to get them before the congressional committee. The case is long and drawn out and if these men can clear up any of the questions involved, by all means take any steps to get them back here.

EDMUND A. CONNELL, passenger manager of the Dollar Line: I agree with Mr. Hearst and Senator Borah in their determination to get O'Neil and Blackmer, former oil magnates, back to this country to testify about the affairs of the Continental Trading Company. If it will clarify matters, I hope action, indictment or otherwise, will be speeded.

Blackmer, Missing Oil Witness, Resigns Job

Denver, March 28—Henry M. Blackmer, missing Teapot Dome witness, who fled to Europe, resigned today as a member of the Mid-West Oil Company, it was announced by T. A. Dines, chairman of the board.

Dines declared Blackmer's resignation was voluntary and denied reports that the oil man's retirement followed pressure brought by the so-called "Rockefeller interests."

Blackmer's son, Myron Blackmer, resigned as a director of the Mid-West several weeks ago, following his appearance before the Senate oil committee in Washington, at which time he intimated that he believed his father's continued absence from this country, and refusal to appear before the oil investigators, was motivated by a desire to "protect other persons."

Washington, March 28 (INS)—The Department of Justice is preparing a brief on the question of indicting J. E. O'Neil and H. M. Blackmer, fugitive Teapot Dome Oil witnesses, it was disclosed today with the information that the brief is virtually completed.

The brief is said to sustain the belief of many legal experts that the return to the United States of the two fugitives can be brought about by indictment either in the state or federal courts.

who did not. He was Count Girolamo Moroni, an Italian, wealthy and once lionized in New Orleans society.

The count was struck by her modesty, sought an introduction, courted her and married her in November, 1912. Eleanor Curran had taken her first step upward.

After a European honeymoon, Count and Countess Moroni went to live in Chicago where he was attached to the Italian consulate. In Chicago Countess Moroni met the late Col. Samuel P. Colt, father of Russell Colt, the former husband of Ethel Barrymore. Later the Count and Countess accepted an invitation to visit Colonel Colt at his estate near Providence, R. I.

Later Count Moroni took a position with the United States Rubber Company and went to the Far East to work. The Countess remained in Rhode Island, whose people and climate she liked. Her calling list increased.

She met Sir Mortimer Davis, the tobacco king and racehorse owner. He was married but it was an open secret that he and the first Lady Davis were estranged.

Count Moroni never returned to his wife. They were divorced in Providence, in 1923. The Countess' friendship with Sir Mortimer grew. Lady Davis finally obtained a divorce, and Countess Moroni, nee Curran, and Sir Mortimer were married—in 1924.

Sir Mortimer and his bride returned to Montreal, but Canadian society received them coldly. After a brief stay they returned to Cannes and spent most of their time on the Riviera.

Bangor, Me., March 28 (AP)—As Republicans began to pour into this city today for their biennial state convention in Bangor Auditorium tomorrow, a move was said to be under consideration by certain party leaders to send an instructed delegation at Kansas City in June.

Even though Maine's 15 delegates are expected to favor the nomination of Herbert Hoover for the presidency, no sign of opposition having been observed, these leaders were said to desire a departure from the usual custom of sending Maine's delegates without instructions and have them definitely pledged to the Secretary of Commerce.

Two shiploads of passengers arrived in Boston hours late today, one group from New York and one from Yarmouth, N. S., because of bad weather.

The Yarmouth boat, Prince George, radioed early today that she was bucking head winds and would dock at Boston five hours late. She was due at 10 o'clock this morning. She left Yarmouth late and had lost three more hours at the time the radio message was sent.

BOSTONIANS OF THE UPPER CRUST ARE NEVER WEARY OF WELL DOING, especially when the well doing involves pleasant theatrical entertainment or fine music for themselves. "Porgy" by the New York Theater Guild, at the Hollis Street Theater on April 16 is a case in point and may be attended by Bostonians feeling pleasantly secure in an act of well doing to benefit a deserving cause. Wise sponsors wishing to ease the financial strain for the Nursery Training School have secured the Guild's presentation, and secured, likewise, the patroness list without which no benefit, however unpretentious, can hope to qualify.

SHOULD ONE HAVE THE URGE TO WITNESS "PORGY" ON THAT MONDAY EVENING one needs only telephone Mrs. Elizabeth Olmstead, at her Hedge rd. (Brookline) home. Or drop into a Back Bay ticket agency. The patroness list aforementioned is of course extremely social registerish in tone—and so extremely long no society column could well include a printing of it. Suffice it to mention Mrs. B. Loring Young, Mrs. Thomas Handasyd Cabot, Mrs. Eliot Wadsworth, Mrs. Westmore Willcox, Jr., among the many.

TAKING A FLYER IN STOCKS is no unusual pastime with scions of wealthy and influential families. But it's refreshingly different and amusing to hear of a smart young girl invading the realm of high finance and large transactions and coming away winner by a cool half million. That is a tale that came to my ears over the 5 o'clock cup. And all society is smiling indulgently. Because with the gay young trader it's a pastime merely; probably the desire to "do something" outside the round that is merely frivolous. Big business for the mere excitement of the thing. Not that she needs the money. Far from it, for she belongs to a family born to the purple with purses accommodatingly well laden.

THE CLAN OWNS TOWN residences majestic and pretentious. Palatial country estates are a short motor run away. Dashes to Europe via luxurious and expensive liners are but incidentals. In fact existence for this young woman is entirely surrounded with the paraphernalia great wealth and high estate can bestow. And when the urge becomes overpoweringly insistent, when she absolutely must "do something," she cleverly passes by the hat shops, the book stalls and the decorators' emporiums so alluring to natures less adventurous, and goes into the maelstrom of the Stock Exchange. And, marvelous to relate, she is not shorn like the lamb, but comes away victorious.

FOR TWO PROSPECTIVE BRIDES AN INTERESTING dinner by an important social personage was given not so long ago. Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer was the hostess, and the guests of honor were Miss Joan Higginson, betrothed to Alexander Mackay Smith, and Miss Theodora Ayer, whose intended is Robert Winthrop Entertaining for her circle of youthful relatives and friends is a favorite diversion of Mrs Thayer's, and the dinner company at this bride's occasion numbered a score. Miss Ayer and Mr. Winthrop will be wed on Easter Monday, at the Cathedral Church of St. Paul, and Miss Higginson is a June bride, choosing the 16th day in the month of orange blossoms and wedding bells.

MRS. THOMAS B. GANNETT HAS GONE a-traveling. Not so very far, to be sure, but on an interesting journey, since she takes some of the youthful Gannetts to see the sights of Washington, when the Federal City is just donning its spring coat; emerging from winter's grayness to spring's budding, as the promised summer is already softening the air. The Gannett household contains several youthful sprigs, four or perhaps it is five, and Mrs. Gannett is ever the devoted maternal parent.

AWAITING THE DAY WHEN WEDDING BELLS have rung, there is a pretty new house all completed and sitting on a Cohasset hillside for the advent of William C. Cox and his bride. A charming Dutch Colonial affair has been built for them with a view of the distant bay over the tree tops, and sufficiently adjacent to the Hugh Bancroft summer estalishment. Mr. and Mrs. Bancroft are parents of Miss Jessie Bancroft, bride-elect, and destined to bear the name of Cox. And the Bancroft stables house several fine saddle and harness horses, expertly handled by both Miss Jessie and Miss Jane Bancroft, so close proximity of the smaller to the larger house is a great advantage.

Miss Jessie Bancroft, Soon to Wed William C. Cox, Will Reside Near Cohasset Home of Her Parents

MISS JESSIE BANCROFT DISCOVERED TO HER FRIENDS unsuspected histrionic ability as Deacon White in the Vincent Club's current offering. Mrs. Sherwin Badger, sister of Miss Bancroft and formerly herself Miss Mary Bancroft, is in town just now, having returned from Switzerland where she accompanied her husband for the Olympic skating contests. Nathaniel Niles and Mrs. Niles are also back from the contests, and both Messrs Niles and Badger immediately turn their attention and their art to a contest now going on in New Haven. Such is the life of an expert in skates. One competition after another.

STILL ANOTHER IMPORTANT YOUNG GIRL, WEALTHY AND leisured and of ultra connections, has succumbed to the lure of trade. She is serving in a shop. Miss Nancy Patten, daughter of Mrs. William S. Patten, and kin to fully half of Mayfair, has taken a position in one of the modiste shops dotting the more reserved shopping thoroughfares of the town. Bright-eyed and alert, she arrives on the dot of 9, and loves nothing so much as dressing the window, or peacocking before a social confrere in one of madame's most elaborate creations. Should the family fortunes ever fail her (and there's scant chance of that catastrophe) she could turn professional easily enough and earn a pretty penny.

substance is necessary in connection with the law of gravitation. It would take too long to say why.

Ether fills all space. All other substance is unsubstantial compared with it.

We must remember that so-called solid matter is not solid. The atoms making up a lead spoon are as far apart in proportion to their size as the earth from the sun. What Lodge calls "the imponderable ether" is inconceivably solid. Wide open matter passes through the ether as a fisherman's net passes through water.

You cannot prove the existence of ether, or see electricity, or demonstrate the existence of eternal law. But the mind accepts them as realities.

The wise man agrees with Socrates, who said: "I know that I know nothing."

President Coolidge will decide, within a week, how much should be cut from your taxes, $200,000,000 perhaps.

FEW PEOPLE KNOW how white teeth really are. Miss Rene St. Denis, like millions of others, now knows through daily use of Pepsodent

Your Teeth
Not Naturally Dull, "Off Color"
If you think they are this simple free test will surely surprise you.

A FILM coat makes teeth lustreless and dull. That is what makes people think their teeth are naturally "off color." When you remove it the new way teeth take on a brilliance that amazes. Gums grow firm and pink.

A simple test proves the great truth of this discovery. A test that stars of the stage and screen have made by scores. It has taught them their most important beauty aid.

A new way in tooth and gum care removes the dingy film that clouds your teeth. A film that absorbs discolorations and keeps teeth dingy.

Just run your tongue across your teeth. And you will feel that film. It is the great enemy of pretty teeth and healthy gums.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It forms a breeding place for germs. And germs, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea and other serious troubles.

Ordinary brushing fails in successfully fighting film. And under film are the clear, whiter teeth you envy.

Now modern science has perfected an effective film combatant, called Pepsodent. It acts to curdle film, then to remove it. It firms and protects gums; beautifies teeth quickly and correctly.

LIE IS PASSED AT SOFT COAL HEARING

Washington, March 28 (INS)—The lie was passed at the Senate coal hearing today between John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, and Charles P. Belden, counsel for Ohio operators. Belden charged certain of Lewis' statements about Ohio producers "were false."

"I never make a false accusation," Lewis replied belligerently. Senator Wagner (D.) of New York announced he planned to submit formal request to the committee for a subpoena for Henry Ford.

BACK HUB MAN IN $8,000,000 DUKE VERDICT

Newark, N. J., March 28 (INS)—The $8,000,000 verdict against the estate of the late James B. Duke, tobacco king, in a suit brought by George D. Haskell of Boston, Mass., before Federal Judge William N. Runyon stands, according to a decision of the court today.

The court also denied the motion of the plaintiff asking settlement of $24,000,000 damages and counsel fees of $300,000 and the motion brought by the defense asking for a new trial to set aside the $8,000,000 verdict.

The late Mr. Duke was charged with breaking a verbal contract with Haskell when he turned his water power interests on the Saugenay river in Canada over to the Aluminum Company of America. Haskell charged that this was in violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

The trial started on December 8, 1927, and a verdict was returned against the estate of Duke on February 14. Duke died on October 10, 1925.

Used Gun to Die

Attleboro, March 28 (AP)—Word was received here today of the suicide of Benjamin W. Higgins at his home in Rehoboth. He had shot himself in the head with a shotgun and his body was found by his wife, who said he had been despondent.

HALDEMAN OFF ON ENDURANCE FLIGHT TRIP

(By the Associated Press)

Two attempts to shatter the German-held endurance record for airplane flight were started today, with a third American plane poised for a similar effort.

Gene Shank, 22-year-old St. Paul aviator, had the jump on the other contestants by his start at 7:14 last night. Shank, who held the former world record of 515 for looping the loop, failed in three recent attempts to bring the endurance title back to the United States.

His attempt today also failed when a plugged gas jet forced him down after he had been in the air 12 hours and 18 minutes.

In the warmer clime of Jacksonville, Fla., Capt. George Haldeman of Atlantic flying fame and Eddie Stinson, builder of the plane, took off from the beach runway this morning 12 hours later than Shank.

Six hours after taking to the air they were still cruising leisurely over the city.

At Curtiss Field, Long Island, Charles A. Levine has had his plane prepared for days, with the announced intention of joining those who seek to prolong their lazy circling of the airport to the point of triumph.

To win the title the fliers must exceed by one hour the present time of 52½ hours.

YOU CAN TRUST YOUR SOCONY DEALER AS YOU WOULD YOUR DOCTOR

YOU do not know what is in the prescription which the doctor gives you. You trust him to order it correctly, and you trust the druggist to follow his instructions.

Similarly you do not know the chemical elements of gasoline and motor oil. You trust the company that makes them and the dealer who puts them in your car.

For 54 years the Standard Oil Company of New York has been guided by this principle—that the confidence of the public is its chief asset. It must make good gasoline and motor oil. To cheapen its product would endanger this great public confidence.

You can trust this Company. You can trust its dealers. They are business men who are in business to stay. They have chosen to sell Socony Gasoline and Motor Oil because they believe these are the best products on which to build a lasting business. They will do everything possible to keep your good-will.

Don't experiment with imitations of Socony. Avoid places that try to sell you "something just as good."

Socony Touring Service is something you should know about

"WHICH road is the best road to take?" Socony Touring Service can answer such questions as that. They know every road that is under construction and they know how to avoid troublesome detours. You are cordially invited to make use of the Socony Touring Service at any time. Address them at 26 Broadway, New York City.

Have you tried Socony Special Gasoline?

FACTS about used car allowances

MOST new car sales now involve the trading-in of a buyer's used car. More and more people are asking: "Why should my used car seem to have several values? . . . . Why should dealers in different makes of cars offer me allowances differing materially? . . . . Does the largest allowance offered mean the best deal for me?"

Here are basic facts:

1 Your used car has seemingly different values because competitive dealers are bidding to sell you a new car.

2 Your used car has only one fundamental basis of value: what the dealer who accepts it in trade can get for it in the used car market.

3 The largest trade-in allowance which is offered on your used car is not necessarily the best deal for you. Sometimes it is; sometimes it is not.

4 An excessive allowance may mean that you are paying an excessive price for the new car in comparison with its real value.

5 Judge the merits of the new car in comparison with its price, including all delivery and finance charges. Then weigh any difference in the allowances offered on your used car.

WHEN you trade-in your present car, remember that first of all you are making a purchase and not a sale. You are buying a new car and simply applying your present car as a credit toward the purchase price of the new car.

PHELANS ARE RECEIVED BY POPE PIUS

Rome, March 28 (AP)—Pope Pius today received James J. Phelan, of Boston, and Mrs. Phelan, both of whom have been honored with papal decorations, the former with the grand cross of the sovereign military order of Malta.

The audience lasted nearly half an hour, and the Pope congratulated Mr. Phelan on being master of the First Chapter of the Knights of Malta in America. He expressed gratification at what the thirteen charter members of this body have done by their contribution of $25,000 for the upkeep of the Hospital of the Infant Jesus in Rome in which the pontiff is extremely interested.

Since this gift in November 1927, the institution, the Holy Father said, had been able to care for 400 instead of 340 poor Roman children.

"You will have the consolation of knowing this," said the Pope, but he added that he did not wish them to think that membership in the famous order, founded in 1080 by merchants of Amalfi, obligated them to contribute to any particular Roman Italian charity; they were free to do as they pleased, and he would always follow their activities "with affectionate sympathy."

TICKETS SENT TO BIRTHDAY GUESTS

First birthday guest tickets for Loew's State Theater were sent out today by that theater and the Boston Evening American.

When is your birthday? You need not answer unless you are a boy or girl 16 years of age or under. But if you do answer, and you conform to the rules, you, too, can be a guest of this newspaper and the theater management.

Here are the rules of the birthday theatricals:

You must write a 15 to 25-word letter telling why you are glad your birth month is the month it is.

You can send in your letter mentioning your birthday any time within 30 days preceding the date.

You must not be older than 16 years.

There will be 140 guests of the Boston Evening American and Loew's State Theater each week.

Here is a sample letter—say from Gertrude Elms of Chestnut st. Jonesboro:

"My 14th birthday will be on April 3. I am glad it is in that month because then the first real days of spring are here and the whole world is happy."

Twenty attractive birthday cards will be given daily—140 a week—in addition to the theatre tickets.

If your birthday is today, or within 30 days, let the Birthday Editor know about it, and address your letter care of Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop Square.

Radio and Television to Aid 1932 Spellbinder

Chicago, March 28 (INS)—In the political campaign of 1932 radio and its newly-developed sister, television, will enable millions to see as well as hear the distant speaker.

This prophecy was voiced today by Maj.-Gen. J. G. Harbord, president of the Radio Corporation of America, before the Chicago Association of Commerce. Of radio itself he said:

"It links the nations together in the promotion of enduring peace. The printed page is already flashed across the oceans. International broadcasting will become commonplace.

"The temple bells of Asia will chime for us, and from that land of old religions will come the philosophies of her ancient races. Old and new civilizations will throb together to the same intellectual appeal.

"In the event of great dangers to our country, radio has made it possible for the President to appeal in his own voice to our millions for support of government and institutions."

J. E. GALLIGAN PASSES AWAY

John E. Galligan, president of the Lincoln Creameries, and for many years vice-president and general manager of the Ginter Company, is dead at his home 38 Cushing ave., Belmont, after an illness of a few weeks.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at nine o'clock, with solemn requiem mass at Our Lady of Mercy Church, Belmont, at ten o'clock.

Mr. Galligan was well known in the grocery trade throughout New England, and particularly in Boston. He formerly made his home in Newton, and recently became associated with the Lincoln Creameries as president.

TO END 18,000 RADIO LICENSES

Washington, March 28 (INS)—Temporary licenses under which approximately 16,000 amateur and 2000 commercial radio stations have been operating will be terminated on July 31, it was announced by the Federal Radio Commission today.

One-year licenses will be issued instead to those whose applications are approved. The order does not affect broadcasting stations.

The commission was officially restored to active life today when President Coolidge signed the radio bill, extending its term to March 15, 1929.

The bill also provides for an equal allocation of power broadcasting licenses in the five major geographical divisions of the nation.

I., today was married to Walter Averill Powers of Oakfield, Me., at the Palazzo Barberini, the home of the bride's aunt, the Marchesa Casati. The wedding was followed by a reception attended by leaders of the American colony and Italian society.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edson F. Gallaudet of Providence and a granddaughter of the late Dr. Edward Gallaudet, founder of the Gallaudet College at Washington. The groom is the son of the late Llewelyn Powers, Governor of Maine.

Under the auspices of the Franklin Class for men of the First Congregational Church on Franklin st., Somerville, former mayor of Boston, James M. Curley will speak tomorrow night on the subject "Metropolitan Boston." The Boston Children's Hospital receives the proceeds. The orchestra of the church will play and Fred B. Croswell, baritone, will sing.

CHAPTER 38.

A NURSE bathes a child each day, first tickling its feet or pinching its nose. A habit grows up, functioning like an instinct on reflex arcs. The mere sight of the nurse calls out a gurgle or a rage. If the nurse wears a blue dress habitually, the blue dress is enough. If the baby knows only one blue dress and that blue dress always means tickle or pinch, any blue dress becomes enough for gurgle or a fit.

We come to hate everything associated with our early hates; afraid of everything associated with early fears. The random fears and rages come to be attached to new objects not contemplated in the original scheme of kill-or-cure emotional reinforcement. They become specific. The baby is not naturally afraid of lightning; it is afraid of a sudden crash. Nor is it naturally afraid of darkness, snakes, strangers, graveyards, or black cats.

Our emotions are conditioned in the same nursery in which our growing body learns its first steps. As the movements of motor mechanism become habits and so function on smooth-running reflex arcs, the emotions themselves become organized; the live-or-die glands and the autonomic nerves learn special modes of behavior. They take on habits, learn new responses, acquire new friends, new foes, new fears. The mouth waters under certain conditions. Fear is called out under certain conditions. Certain persons, things, situations, call out tantrums, cries, rages; others are sources of attachment, loves.

Practice makes perfect—hates and fears as well as tennis players and card sharps. One does not naturally love a cat or hate a nurse or fear a mouse. But with practice the threshold is lowered, the message gets a quicker response. Only intense stimuli at first called out these emotional responses. But a youngster "nearly scared to death" is already on the way to be a coward. The child "nearly tormented to death" has laid the foundation for a vicious temper.

It is like a cork. First time out requires effort. Thereafter any old corkscrew will suffice. By and by, a thumbnail.

THE function of emotion is quick action and long memory. If I am the victim of a $100 counterfeit

FULLER TO OPEN DRIVE ON CANCER DEATHS

The greatest campaign ever undertaken in Massachusetts to reduce cancer mortality, through early discovery of the disease, will be started April 23, in Symphony Hall, with Governor Fuller, Cardinal O'Connell, Surgeon-General Hugh S. Cummings and Dr. Richard Cabot as the principal speakers.

The campaign will be statewide and continue for one week under the joint auspices of the cancer committee of the Massachusetts Medical Society, the Massachusetts branch of the American Society for the Control of Cancer and the State Department of Public health.

It is the aim of the joint committee to bring simultaneously before all citizens of the state a few essential facts regarding signs of early cancer and pre-cancerous conditions so that those who might otherwise become victims may act in time for successful application of treatment.

CAN BE CURED AT START.

"While an unfortunately large number of cases of cancer are in view of our present knowledge hopeless, it is well known that many others give promise of permanent cure if they can be brought to attention and effectively treated before they are too far advanced," the committee states.

"The average delay at the present time between discovery of the disease and the first visit of the patient to a physician is about eight months.

"There is still further delay of two months before effective treatment is applied. These ten months of delay must be appreciably shortened before progress can be made in the control of cancer."

PLANS OF CAMPAIGN.

Here are the chief lines of activity which will be followed during the week in the clinic cities of Boston, Pondville, Springfield, Worcester, Lowell, Lynn, Fitchburg, Leominster and Gardner:

1—An open meeting in which the medical profession and the public will unite.

2—A medical meeting with clinical session, if possible, arranged by the medical society and the local cancer committee.

3—Talks by physicians before organizations whose regular meetings fall between April 23 and April 27.

4—An approach to industrial groups by means of pay envelope inserts or articles in house organs and to householders by bill enclosures.

Newspaper publicity both before and after the occurrence of the various events.

WIFE HID IN CAR TO GET CLUE

Lowell, March 28—How she had hidden under a blanket in the back seat of a flivver and ridden with her husband and "the other woman" to a lonely spot in Tewksbury was related to Clerk of Court Trull by a Dracut woman who applied for a warrant for non-support.

The woman made a complaint to Mr. Trull about her husband a few weeks ago. He earned $16 a week she said, had a wife and five children, was keeping up payments on the family flivver and in his spare time went around with other women.

The clerk of court told her that she'd need real evidence, not her suspicions, to sustain her case in court.

Yesterday she came back and told Mr. Trull that she had some evidence. On Sunday night, she related, she told her husband she was going to church, but instead got in the back seat of the car and rolled up in the blanket.

Soon her husband came out, she said, and started the car. Finally he stopped and a woman got in. She gave him $1 with which to buy gas.

They rode to a lonely spot in Tewksbury, the wife said, and the car was parked. She peeked from under the blanket and saw her husband and the girl hugging and kissing. In a few minutes the husband reached for the blanket, she said, and she was detected.

The girl refused to ride back in the auto under the circumstances, she said, and the man gave her the change from the dollar she had given him for gas, and she took the bus.

The wife got the warrant for non support and the case will be tried in district court.

EVANGELIST CITES ATTY. DARROW

"Slaughter houses of Christian faith" was the characterization of American universities by Evangelist W. E. Biederwolf at today's noon meeting in Park Street Church.

Taking the story of Samson and Delilah as his text, he declared that this biblical tale might be taken as "a symbol of the reckless pace of this pleasure-mad world, and a warning of the crushing collapse of our vaunted civilization if we do not cry a halt to godless extremes.

"The university and the home—these are the places where young men of today get their Samson haircuts," he said. "These are the institutions responsible more than any other for the shorn condition of our youth, robbing them of their strength and glory.

"Universities are full of textbooks that ridicule Christian belief. Think of a book like Parmelee's 'Criminology,' which says, 'It would be difficult to find a more anti-social and immoral religious doctrine than the Christian doctrine of forgiveness of sins.'

"Prof. James Leuba of Bryn Mawr College addressed 1000 scientists, mostly teachers, and found that more than half of them either doubted or denied the existence of a personal God. He then found that students after entering college gradually abandon the cardinal Christian beliefs.

"Clarence Darrow, defending young Leopold, said: 'It is hardly fair to hang a boy for the philosophy taught him at the university.'

"It is time for a housecleaning among our colleges. The young men and women entering college with religious convictions have to possess real character nowadays to emerge with any. Not all colleges come under this indictment, but altogether too many do."

WARD'S $24,000 JOKE ON BORAH HAS 2 HA-HAS

"Ha, ha!" said City Councillor Michael J. Ward, "it's a good joke, isn't it?"

"Ha, ha!" he said again, hollow-voiced.

All over City Hall the "Ha,ha," resounded. And it contained too much real mirth to be the echo of Ward's own.

It came about that Councillor Ward, a Democrat, having read Senator Borah's appeal to staunch Republicans to make up $160,000 to repay Sinclair for his oily contributions to the party, wrote a letter to Borah sympathizing with him "toiling to pull from a black, oily morass a mighty elephant."

"I am enclosing my mite, namely 100,000 German marks," wrote the councillor.

He mailed it. Then he whispered it to a friend and the friend whispered it to another. You know.

Then somebody said to Mr. Ward, "What year were those marks, Mike?"

"Nineteen twenty-three."

"Whew! Those are worth some money."

"Money?" said Ward. "How much."

"I don't know, but a lot of dough. Are you crazy?"

Mr. Ward's lips became dry. He paced the floor. He dashed for the office of assistant city treasurer Edward F. McAdams.

"Mac," he whispered, "what are 100,000 German marks, 1923 issue, worth?"

McAdams figured rapidly. "Twenty-four thousand dollars," he replied.

Ward raced away.

In the hallway somebody stopped him.

"Hear you got a good joke on Borah, Mike. Let us in, will you."

"Good joke," said Ward. "Ha, ha! Good joke. Can't tell anybody."

He dashed frantically about. He reached for the phone.

"Get me James M. Curley at the Hibernia Savings Bank," he said. Then: "Jim? For the love of the donkey, how much are 100,000 German marks, issue of 1923, worth?"

"Nothing," said the former mayor.

"Ah," said Ward. "Nothing. I see it now. Good joke, isn't it?"

DRIVER OF FATAL TRUCK HELD IN $2000 BAIL

Pleading not guilty to manslaughter, Salvatore Elliott of Boston, whose truck is alleged to have backed over and fatally injured a four-year-old boy in Chelsea last night, was released under $2000 bail today in Chelsea district court.

He will be given a hearing on April 4. The boy was Henry Van Patten of 100 Beacon st., Chelsea. Elliott took him to Chelsea Memorial [illegible], where he died.

STATE WARNS OF INCREASE IN MEASLES

Alarmed over a big increase in reported cases of measles, the State Department of Health today issued a warning to parents to disabuse themselves of the idea that the disease is a harmless one.

"The disease is a dangerous one for children under approximately three years of age," said Dr. Clarence L. Scamman head of the division of communicable diseases, today at the State House.

"Reports of our department show that the mortality rate among the children referred to is 12 times as great as the rate among older children suffering from the same disease."

Figures at the department show 19,232 cases reported up to March 26 from the beginning of the year. This record compares with the low figures of 2871 for the first three months of 1927 and but 13,498 cases for the entire year.

"If the child shows the symptoms of a common cold, such as running nose, watery eyes, mild fever, sensitiveness to light, play safe—call a doctor," said Dr. Scamann. "Put the youngster to bed and keep other persons, especially children, away from him. Measles taken in time proves a mild disease. Neglected, it may lead to broncho-pneumonia, ear trouble and death."

CHELSEA FIRE WAS SET, SAYS STATE INSPECTOR

Incendiarism caused a fire at 46 Brooks st., Chelsea, Fire Inspector Edward H. Horrigan today reported to State Fire Marshal George C. Neal. Horrigan declared his investigation revealed that nine cardboard hat boxes, filled with gasoline and thick oil, were burning in the hallways and in the seven rooms of the single 2½-story house, and that cotton-batting streamers ran from each of the boxes. The boxes, he added, had been made waterproof by the use of cement on the bottoms.

ROBERT E. LEE CARGO TO BE AUCTIONED OFF

Another entry will be written in the log of the steamship Robert E. Lee tomorrow when her damaged cargo goes under the auctioneer's hammer at Battery wharf.

The stock of miscellaneous merchandise was taken from the holds of the vessel at Mary Ann rocks, off Manomet, after she grounded in the storm of March 9. A New York firm of underwriters had the goods lightered to the wharf where they are open for examination today.

JUDGE PLAYS "SOLOMON" IN AUTO CASE; CONVICTS TWO

Because each accused the other of being the driver of a truck which figured in a collision, both Sherman McKay of Greta rd., Roslindale, and Melvin Kent of Amherst st., Roslindale, were found guilty today of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. Judge Hayden in Roxbury Court, remarking that he could not tell which was telling the truth and so would believe both, fined McKay $100 and sentenced him to one month in the House of Correction, and fined Kent $100. Both defendants appealed.

FIND FAMILY OF 3 SHOT DEAD IN BURNING HOME

Newark, N. Y., March 28—Frank Stevens Warren, president of the local Chamber of Commerce, his wife and 12-year-old son, were found dead in their burning home on Miller st., today, all shot through the heart with 22-caliber bullets.

After the fire had been extinguished the charred bodies of Warren and his wife were found stretched across their bed. The body of the boy, Jack, was found in another room.

Warren had planned to leave this morning for New York on a business trip and the table, apparently set last night, was apparently ready for an early breakfast.

"Skinny" Women Gain Weight

New YEAST and IRON builds up weight and strength

First treatment gives results —or no money

If you are skinny as a rail, with flat chest, gaunt limbs, and you seem to lack all energy, you need the good pounds of "stay-put" flesh and the vitalizing strength that only IRONIZED YEAST can give. Thousands of rundown, weak men and women have regained their normal weight and vigor with IRONIZED YEAST.

Yeast turns your food into flesh and strength

IRONIZED YEAST is two tonics in one—weight-building Yeast and strengthening Iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt, and which makes malt so beneficial.

This yeast is treated with iron taken from fresh vegetables—spinach, lettuce and celery. In this form Iron is easily assimilated by the body, making rich, red blood and toning up nerves and muscles.

Only when Yeast is Ironized in this way is it most effective—for Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building values of Yeast. By this formula IRONIZED YEAST gives you results in half the time required by yeast and iron taken separately.

Ask your druggist for IRONIZED YEAST and start to get pounds of weight and new strength today. You will not only feel better, but you will look better, as IRONIZED YEAST clears out the old deadening poisons and brings new healthy color to your cheeks and sparkle to your eyes. Comes in pleasant-tasting tablets in a handy bottle. Safe for everybody. Does not upset the stomach nor cause gas or bloating.

Results from first treatment —or your money back

Go now to the druggist and get a single course treatment. If you are not absolutely satisfied with the weight and health benefits gained, money for the bottle will be promptly refunded. If inconvenient to buy at the druggist, send $1.00 to the IRONIZED YEAST CO., Atlanta, Ga., Desk 327R.

MUSSOLINI HITS AT POPE FOR BOY SCOUTS

Rome, March 28 (AP)—Premier Mussolini, as if answering the Pope's recent criticisms concerning Fascist education of the Italian youth, today spoke glowingly of Sunday's "Fascist levy," when 80,000 youths were inducted into the party.

"It was not only a ceremony," the premier said, in the Council of Ministers, "it was a most important moment in the system of universal integral education and preparation of the Italian man which the Fascist revolution considers one of the fundamental primordial duties of the state.

"When the state does not fulfill that or permits its discussions, it purely and simply gambles with its right to exist. In view of the widespread movement the Balilla and Avanguardista organizations have given their state functions, the exceptions granted in favor of other youthful organizations lose each day their reason for existing."

The Premier then hinted that existing legislation protecting such organizations as the Catholic Boy Scouts and similar institutions might "feel the necessity of reform according to the integral intransigeant rules of Fascism."

The National Catholic Center party, replying to the address of Pope Pius before the diocesan board of Rome, declares the pontiff's judgments "sadden the conscience of Catholics sincerely and profoundly devoted to church and Pope."

The party defines its makeup as "an association of Italians professing Catholic principles but developing their political activity under their own individual responsibility; clearly distinct, therefore, from associations of 'Italian Catholics' in the action of which, nevertheless, many members of the National Italian Center are active as well as many other Catholics of diverse political thought and attitude."

"Apropos of the Roman question," the communique says, "if the church and State were spoken of together it was because—after our absolute incompetence to discuss and decide that most delicate problem—the eventual solution ought to be left to the sole and supreme judgment of the Pope

URGES FURTHER STUDY OF STATE FLOOD CONTROL

A study of the necessity of further protecting cities and towns of the Hoosac and Connecticut River valleys from floods, to be made by the State Department of Public Works, was urged by Representative Leverett Saltonstall of Newton at a hearing today before the Legislative committee on House Ways and Means. To remove debris in the Hoosac River, caused by floods last November, an appropriation of $23,000 was urged. Other appropriations advocated were $10,000 for repairs and additions to the dike north of Hadley and $40,000 to prevent erosion of the Connecticut River.

BITTER DEBATE ON NIGHT WORK

The biggest debate of the year took place in the House of Representatives today when the two-shift bill, favored by the textile industry, came up.

The galleries were packed with spectators, the majority women, all of whom were interested in the measure, which seeks permission for women to work from 6 p. m. to 10 p. m.

Representative Halliwell of New Bedford, a textile center, led the opposition to the bill. He pleaded with the members to keep Massachusetts in the forefront in humanitarian legislation.

He said the extension of hours of work would be of no beenfit to the textile industry, and if passed would be a step backward as far as humane legislation is concerned.

"Any industry," Representative Halliwell said, "that thinks it is going to see prosperity through plunging workers back into old conditions, is fooling itself."

He said the textile industry had always been the poorest paid.

"All some manufacturers see is the dollar sign," he added. "They don't care if they take it out of women and children."

Representative Stone of Wayland led the fight for the bill. He said it merely strikes from the law something that is obsolete, and the textile industry is being discriminated against.

Record-breaking sales of Christmas seals, aggregating $54,600, were reported today by Dr. Edward O. Otis of the Boston Tuberculosis Association. The budget of the association will now be larger than ever before, due to new buildings at the Prendergast Preventorium, where more children will be cared for.

There are some seals outstanding and these the association wishes returned or the money sent in if the seals have been sold.

Governor Names Two

Governor Fuller today appointed James H. Walsh of Fall River as associate medical examiner of the Third Bristol district to take the place of Frederick R. Barnes, promoted. Fuller also re-appointed Albert O. Hamel of Lowell as public administrator of Middlesex County.

Boys of America Determined to Be Like Lindy

Last year's call produced less than 300 applications. Training corps officers estimate that 1500 applications will be received before examination date.

Applications have come from every state in the Union and from Panama, Alaska and the Philippines.

HAYWOOD NEAR DEATH IN RED HOSPITAL

Moscow, March 28 (AP)—William D. Haywood, more generally known in American labor circles as "Big Bill," is critically ill in the Kremlin hospital suffering from diabetes.

"Big Bill" Haywood, one of the founders of the Industrial Workers of the World and for many years prominently identified with radical labor circles in the United States, fled to Soviet Russia in 1920 after his conviction in the United States on charges of violating the espionage act. He was under a sentence of 20 years in prison and a fine of $20,000.

ANCIENTS HAVE LAST SMOKER

With a large and enthusiastic attendance, the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company's last smoker of the season took place in Faneuil Hall.

The artists included Wilson Sisters & Washburn, three girls in a syncopation act from Loew's State Theater, the Everett City Band, and Bob Nelson, musical comedy star who is a headliner of the vaudeville at the Orpheum Theater with Billy Frisch and a host of other classic entertainers.

Richard Blatchford, 15, of Howard st., Melrose Highlands, was arraigned in juvenile session of Malden court today charged with manslaughter in causing the death by shooting of his chum, Daniel A. Steele, also 15, of Warren st., in the same city. The case was continued to April 4 and the boy allowed to go on his own recognizance.

According to the police, the shooting was another case of not knowing the gun was loaded. Young Blatchford took a revolver from a drawer in his home and shot Steele, an orphan, who lived with an aunt. The shooting occurred Sunday, the victim dying yesterday.

A great deal of digestive suffering is due to excess stomach acid which causes heartburn, flatulence, stomach pain and other distressing symptoms. By taking "Pape's Diapepsin" after eating or when pain is felt you not only remove the cause of the trouble and instantly neutralize the harmful acid, but your digestive organs are soothed, healed and strengthened in a wonderful way, and normal healthy digestion results.

Because it is so quick, so safe and so sure in ending digestive troubles, millions recommend "Pape's Diapepsin." "Pape's Diapepsin" is unequalled as an indigestion remedy and food corrective, yet it costs only 60 cents a package at all druggists.

If your stomach ever torments you get "Pape's Diapepsin" at once and recapture the pleasure of care-free, painless digestion.

STATE MAY FIND HOMES FOR G. A. R. VETS

Investigation by a special commission as to the advisability of establishing state homes for needy Civil War veterans and their wives or widows was urged at a hearing today before the joint rules committee of the legislature. Benjamin Ham, past commander of the G. A. R., said he had seen men and women who had lived together for more than 50 years separated, and both died within three months of the separation.

The American Legion and the United Spanish War Veterans were placed on record for the resolve.

Braves Face Crack Brooklyn Pitchers Today

SPORTS

Pirates Should Win
Yanks Have Class
Braves for Fourth

Carrigan Has the Idea
Boys Play His Way
Pitchers Are Good

By Nick Flatley

MIAMI, Fla., March 28—This is the time of the year when one is supposed to toss the names of the big league baseball clubs into a hat, to burn incense or tablecloths, and come up with the listing of the teams as they will finish in October. Forecasting races on what the boys show in the spring, is like believing labels these days, more or less a joke.

Nick Flatley

But occasionally some would-be expert hits it right and gets to pat himself on the chest. That chance comes seldom to experts in this day and generation.

Your correspondent has seen all the big league clubs in Florida and has culled the players dope on the teams that are out on the coast and elsewhere. From where we sit, looking down the great white way of Miami, it would seem that the races should finish as follows:

NATIONAL	AMERICAN
Pittsburgh	Yankees
St. Louis	Athletics
Chicago	Senators
Boston	Tigers
New York	White Sox
Cincinnati	Cleveland
Brooklyn	Browns
Philadelphia	Red Sox

Both the Yankees and the Pirates would seem to have the class to carry through again in their respective leagues. The Yanks are a young team, with a terrific punch. There's no reason to believe that Ruth and Gehrig will be any less powerful with the bludgeon than they were a year ago. The team has stars at every spot, except back of the bat, and its run-making ability more than makes up for that deficiency.

The Pirates were pitiable in the last world series, but that performance will have to be tossed out. The Cuyler trouble had the club down and it was ruined. Little Sparky Adams will give the club the fire it has needed and Burleigh Grimes should win more games than Vic Aldridge turned in. The class is there, the inharmonious thing has been operated on, and the Corsairs should cop, although they will be ridden to a fare-thee-well by the rest of the league.

McGRAW IS EXPERIMENTING WITH HIS TEAM THIS YEAR, AND EXPERIMENTS RARELY FINISH HIGHER THAN THE TOP OF THE SECOND DIVISIONS

The Cubs stepped [illegible] had the flag before the [illegible] was all about. The McCarthys will get plenty of attention [illegible] from the drop of the hat

BOSTON fans naturally are interested in the Boston teams, above all these the Braves should cut a real figure in the National League scramble. They have been wonderfully strengthened in two spots where they were very weak before—second and third base.

Rogers Hornsby, in his fourteenth big campaign is still the great star. No second baseman in either league can cover more ground or do more miracle stuff on those quick double plays that count so heavily. And Rog will hit, because that comes natural. His addition made the club dangerous, but the signing of Bell hoisted the boys into the real contender class.

This youngster was a wonder when the Cards were winning the pennant two years ago. He got into a jam last season, after Hornsby had been traded. Rog made Bell a great ball player and the kid knew it. He wanted to jump when Hornsby was exiled, but he had to stick.

Now that he's back with his old leader, he's a very happy young man and playing the kind of ball that made him famous. He rounds out an infield that should surprise a lot of the boys.

Manager Jack Slattery has infused his club with a real fighting, hustling spirit. His athletes have made a great record in their spring games. They have a confidence that should get them started on the proper pedals. And, pitchers and everything considered, they will be quite an outfit if they can come down to mid-season with any kind of a shot at a section of glory.

JACK SLATTERY HAS A REAL LEFT HANDER, BRANDT, TO HELP A PITCHING STAFF WITH GREAT LATENT POSSIBILITIES, AND BUNNY HEARN HAS LOOKED GOOD ENOUGH TO MAKE THE BOYS FORGET THAT JOHNNY COONEY'S ARM ISN'T RIGHT

Bill Carrigan has real baseball spirit in his Red Sox. They will not be down [illegible] for any club, while Bill is on the job

THE Carrigans, however, have not been strengthened nearly as much as the Browns to all intents and purposes. Dan Howley has invested in some big league material, while Lewiston William is working mostly with the boys who were his rookies a year ago.

He has cut loose a lot of deadwood, and has the kind of a gang he wants, and with him that means a lot. Ken Williams will give the club added punch, and Denny Williams should make the grade this year, if ever he's going to. The Sox pitchers have been carefully handled in the South and know a lot of baseball.

But the material and the power isn't apparent yet, although the silent manager is getting himself off on the sort of trail he likes. Looks to us as if Bill might have to linger in the cellar in the next campaign, but with that one out of the way, he will have a gang of kids made up to his own specifications, and then can get going.

Braves and Robins to Clash Today

By NICK FLATLEY

Miami, Fla., March 28—Rotund Wilbert Robinson and the greatest collection of pitchers in baseball captivity will try to snare the Battling Braves here today.

The Tribe naturally wears the Indian sign but [illegible] added another one in yesterday's matinee when [illegible] to the 13-2 socking at the hands of the Athletics.

After facing Lefty Grove it's somewhat of a [illegible] to send the Braves up against pitchers like Dazzy C. Vance, Jim Elliott and Jess Petty of Brooklyn, but this is what they are up against here today. This is primarily a training trip and [illegible] purpose of these trips.

MR. BOSTON By Jack Conway

"THE threat of the New York State Athletic Commission to place Gene Tunney on its ineligible list unless he agrees to defend his title right off the bat isn't as serious as it at first looks," said Mr. Boston today. "Commissioner Bill Muldoon explains that all Tunney has to do is to agree to pick his opponent from the list of challengers filed with the commission. He can allow Rickard to make the final choice.

"So if Tunney is properly advised, and there is no doubt he will be with Billy Gibson and [illegible] on the [illegible] he will stop sipping orange juice at [illegible] long enough to wire the boxing fathers that he will gladly fight Sharkey, Risko, Heeney, [illegible] Delaney, Scott or Godfrey, and that he will enter the ring with the challenger as soon as Rickard sets the date for the match and picks his opponent from the commission's list of challengers.

"All of these battlers have been accepted as contenders by the New York commission which leaves Tunney sitting on top of the world.

"The Heeney-Risko bout, [illegible] for June 1?, has been advertised as the semifinal of the eliminations. The winner is supposed to be certain of getting a title shot at Tunney.

"The ruling of the commission makes it possible for Tunney to pick any one of the seven recognized challengers regardless of the outcome of the Heeney-Risko [illegible]

"The loser of this match, of course, will be out of the running as he would not be acceptable to Rickard. Tex, however, doesn't intend to make a positive announcement to the effect that the victor of this bout will be the man he will put against the champion.

"RICKARD knows the ups and downs of the fight racket. It is possible that the Heeney-Risko match may be such a dreary affair that both fighters will be eliminated.

It was Tex' original plan to sign Sharkey with Tunney if the former won from Heeney. This bout ended in a draw. [illegible] then planned to [illegible] Sharkey [illegible] champion if Sharkey upset Risko. The latter [illegible]

PIRATES ARE HIS CHOICE

Runyon Figures Pittsburgh to Repeat With Giants Second in League Race

By DAMON RUNYON

PERSONALLY, I think those Pittsburgh Pirates are apt to come gallumping down the National League stretch ahead of the pack again this year, with Mr. McGraw's Giants giving them their toughest competition.

But some folks are trying to make the Chicago Cubs win on paper. These folks, who are mainly of Sucker State origin and affiliation, seem to think that Josephus McCarthy, the manager of the Cubs, is about to take the old home town back to the glorious baseball days of Frank Chance and Evers-Tinker machine.

Well, well, I hope so. It would make the citizens out there on the shore of Lake Michigan feel much better. But I fear they are doomed to disappointment as we say at the club. A jolly third, perhaps. No more. I get the Giants in there second by a species of legerdemain that I will have to explain later.

And yet when I come to think things over more calmly I can see that the optimistic Chicagoese have some license to hope, what with the Cubs' pitching staff probably the best balanced in the National League, and Ki Ki Cuyler out to help no little.

Mr. Josephus McCarthy's pitching staff is one of the likeliest since the days of old Mortified Brown, and Pfiester, and Orvie Overall, and Ed Ruelbach, and all that mob. It includes Charley Root, the right hander, who won 26 and lost 15 games last season.

HAROLD CARLSON, another right hander, won 16 and lost 13 games in 1927. John Blake, right hander, won 13 and lost 14. Percy Lee Jones, sidewinder, won 1 and lost 8. Guy Bush, right hander, won 10 and lost 10. Robert Osburn, right hander won 5 and lost 5, and Arthur Nehf, left hander, won 4 and lost 6.

Mr. Josephus McCarthy has a couple of outfields like Mr. George Stallings had in 1914 when he won a world's championship with a ringtag outfit up at Boston. The old timers, looking back with fond recollections, will tell you now that the Braves of that year had a great team. It was great only for a few triumphant hours.

Mr. McCarthy will have Cuyler, Robert Hack Wilson and Jackson R. Stephenson, as a right handed hitting outfield and Curse You Cliff Heathcote, Joe Kelly and Earl Webb as a combination of left handed hitters. Those completely reversible outfields do not always work out, however.

I will say one thing for the Cubs. In Mr. Josephus McCarthy they have a very smart baseball man. He is very likely to be in there leading a championship outfit sooner or later. He has one of the greatest catchers in the business in Gabby Hartnett, who is the Roger Bresnahan of his time in the matter of ability and showmanship.

Mr. Josephus McCarthy also has a natty first baseman in Charles J. Grimm, as good a door keeper as there is around. He hit that old biscuit for .311 last season.

GRIMM, English, Maguire, or McMillan and Butler give Mr. Josephus McCarthy a reasonable sort of infield. Among his utility infielders are Elmer Yoter, Clyde Beck and Joe Kelly.

He has Mike Gonzales, Johnny Churry and Louie Leggett as spare catchers, and a number of recruit pitchers who may do O. K. this year. Fierce Pat Malone, lately of Minneapolis, won 20 and lost 15 games in that man's town last year, and John Welch, who was with the Cubs part of last season, is reported promising.

If I had a baseball club I wouldn't mind having Mr. Josephus McCarthy's coaches playing for me, putting them back about 20 years in the matter of age. They are Jimmy Burke and good old Mique Doolan, as fine a shortstop as ever reached for an umpire's throat latch.

What a lovely lineup for an umpire the Phillies of Mique's time used to have—Doolan, Knabe and Charley Dooin to do the squawking back of the plate! Between Doolan and Burke, the young Cubs ought to get plenty of sage advice.

As against the Pirates, the Cubs' advantage would seem to be only in the pitching staff. Some of those Pirates are getting to the old-timer stage. Speck Meadows, Carmen Hill and Ray Kremer are no springers. Nor is Miljus, nor [illegible] times. But the Pirates have it all over the Cubs on the left side of the infield, with the incomparable Glenn Wright and Pie Traynor at short and third.

GRIMM is a better first baseman than George Grantham or Joe Harris, and Sparky Adams is probably better than McMillan or Maguire. I put the Pirates' outfield far above any combination Mr. Josephus McCarthy can figure out of his reversibles.

IN HITTING STRIDE

EAGLES ARE DEPENDING

On Al Weston to bust up a lot of ball games this season. Coach Hugh Duffy believes the big first sacker will develop into the outstanding batter of college baseball.

Al Weston Starts Hitting for Eagles

With Hugh Duffy trying to get a line on the hitting strength of his Boston College ball players, the old horsehide is due to take an awful pasting for the rest of the week at University Heights where the Eagles are working out.

Boston College has been outdoors for but one session and it was so cold that the boys didn't have much of a chance to show anything in the way of slugging. But if it warms up this afternoon there may be a different story.

One thing was joyfully noticed by Coach Duffy, and that is that Al Weston is socking the ball on the nose. It is almost a sure bet that Weston will come out of his lethargy this season and hammer the ball as was his custom in his first year at Newton.

It seems as though the entire first team at B. C. is going to have a batting rampage that will last all season if first day slugging can be taken as a criterion.

Coach Duffy will keep his regulars making trips to the plate all week, with little or no other work sifted in. He wants his team to get the old eye on the ball and start driving them out of the lot.

Boston College meets Georgetown a week from Saturday and the Hilltoppers have already thrown a scare into the Eagle war camp by a clear cut victory over Springfield in their opening encounter.

Georgetown appears to have a great team again this spring and are very likely to mar Boston College's championship aspirations in their initial game. Deke [illegible], veteran Georgetown hurler, who held Springfield to five hits, will be on the mound against B. C. on Easter Saturday. It's little wonder that Duffy wants to get his boys batting the onion.

HANSEN STRONG FOR HEALTH

Charlie Hansen, who meets Jack Ganson at the Grand Opera House tomorrow, gives lectures on health and physical culture in his spare minutes.

Charlie is a firm believer in advancement and states that rigid rules laid down and adhered to will add many years to the life of the average person.

According to Hansen someone tells you that you are sick and you immediately believe it.

Ganson looks ready for the battle of his life. A win for either means a good match with Joe Malcewicz or George McLeod.

Jose Dominguez, who has been going big in New York this season is matched to meet Jack Albright in a one-fall match.

The former M. I. T. wrestling coach is making a visit to Boston and wants to wrestle in the Hub a few times while here.

George McLeod will be out to polish off Leone Labriola as fast as he can as he wants to impress the fans that he has a chance for a title match with Ed Lewis.

Joe Bull Komar will be back in the harness again meeting Earl Thompson and Frank Yusko, agreeing to throw them one fall each in 30 minutes.

RED SOX BENCH JACK ROTHROCK

under the conditions in the regular season.

Yesterday's 3 to 2 defeat in ten innings was a good example of how little Carrigan cares about winning at this time of the year.

Danny MacFayden went into the box at the start of the fifth inning and for five innings, just one hit was made off his delivery and that, a line drive, would have been caught with ease had not Ken Williams been bothered with a bad leg, which made it necessary for him to play the ball on the hop.

Danny's great crossfire had the Giants swinging like gates. He could have stayed out there all afternoon making the enemy look foolish, but at the end of the ninth he was ordered to the clubhouse and the Giants made a run off Cremins in the tenth and walked off with the game.

If the contest amounted to anything Danny would have stayed right on and the Sox would probably have won, but Carrigan wouldn't let him spend any more effort in trying to win a game that didn't count to anything.

That's the way it will be this afternoon and for the rest of the trip, consequently it will be hard for the team to make any impressive record, but as soon as the season opens, you can bet your last cent that the Sox will be ready for all comers and that it will take plenty of baseball to beat them.

SCHAAF ADDS TO HIS FIGHTING WEIGHT

Following the great fighting show staged at the Arena last Monday night, the Suffolk A. A. will come to the front next Monday with another show at the Arena which promises to equal if not excel the sensational battles of a few nights ago.

In the main bout, the two greatest young heavyweights this side of the Mississippi will fight their third battle—Ernie Schaaf of this city and Benny Touchstone of Florida. The announcement was greeted with an ovation Monday night, for the cash customers remember the stirring bout put on by the two promising youngsters a few months ago, when Schaaf won the decision after the finest heavyweight contest ever put on display in this city.

Schaaf has resumed training at Toland's Gymnasium. The big blonde is always in superb condition and he stepped through his workout at a whirlwind pace. It is probable that he will weigh 190 pounds for his bout next Monday night.

South Boston will have more than passing interest in the show, for Joseph Hambone Kelley, the mighty mauler, will return to the ring in the eight-round semifinal bout against Jack Stone of New York, and Jack "Hurry-Up" Hardy, who won seven amateur contest in seven minutes, will make his professional debut against an opponent to be announced tomorrow.

Mike Sankovitch, New York's latest heavyweight sensation, who knocked out Ted Sandwina in a round, will appear in another eight-round contest, while the actor-fighter, Rocky Emmanuel Stone, will attempt to settle a matter of honor with Cyclone Harris of Worcester, to whom he lost on a foul some weeks ago.

Etiquette in Golf a Real Necessity

By MIRIAM BURNS HORN
Women's National Golf Champion

AS important as any instructions one may read on "How to Play Golf" are the simple little admonitions on the subject of etiquette.

They appear insignificant to the experienced golfer, to whom most of these things are automatic, but it is surprising to notice how many persons there are on the course, who have no regard for convention, etiquette, manners, or whatever you care to call it.

For that reason, I have listed a few "don'ts" here for the benefit of such individuals.

First, DON'T play the game without a thorough knowledge of the rules. That means making use of one's sense of etiquette at all times. DON'T, because you may be engaged in a foursome, which, of course, has the undisputed right of way on the course, feel you own the place.

DON'T ignore the others who may be behind you. Ask them to go through, if they seem to be faster than you.

DON'T berate the caddy and complain at him the entire way around. Make him feel like a human being. Conduct yourself so as to deserve his respect.

If you wish to instruct him, do so in a dignified, polite manner, but do not embarrass him with a loud, uncalled-for lecture. Remember, he is young, and can not be expected to know everything.

DON'T fail to replace divots, and do your share of caring for the course. It would be impossible to have individual caretakers, to whose duty this task would fall.

Yet there are those who take regular slabs of turf, and go on, in perfect ignorance of any wrong. It is just as much your duty to think of this, and remind the caddy, in case he forgets.

DON'T fail to smooth over your footprints in the sand. The person who leaves huge depressions is the first to complain when he finds himself in one.

DON'T lose your disposition (if you have one) just because you may be playing poorly. Play golf for sociability's sake, not merely to win.

Perhaps it means just as much to the other fellow to win occasionally, and victories usually figure on the percentage basis.

You cannot win all the time. Make yourself agreeable in the face of ill luck.

Above all, DON'T complain. DON'T be a crab. Nothing is more boresome. And, DON'T, on the contrary, be a poor winner. That is just as tiresome.

Lastly, DON'T monopolize any conversation with "I." The world is not interested in your doings, alone. DON'T boast of your own prowess.

HORWEEN DIVIDES HIS HARVARD GRID SQUADS

In order to enliven the three-week session of spring football practice at Harvard, Head Coach Arnold Horween has divided the squad of 100 candidates into two of 50 players each. These forces will be known as the army and navy, and Horween plans to have two scrimmages between them this week.

ROBERTI IS TO DO TRAINING IN HUB

Roberto Roberti, Italian heavyweight champion, undefeated in 15 straight fights since coming to this country and winner of three in a row in a Hub ring, will arrive in this city tomorrow night for his important ten-round struggle with Ted Sandwina, champion of Germany, in the wind-up bout of the Argonne A. A. card at Mechanics Building next Monday night.

Three other ten-round bouts will feature the card, which will consist of 40 rounds of boxing and it is expected that only the heavier men will be on the card.

Roberti, however, who has developed into one of the biggest attractions in the country, although he was little known until he started his streak of victories in the Hub, is the outstanding gate getter on the card. Fans like his aggressiveness and his ability to put over a crushing knockout wallop.

Sandwina, born in Sioux City, Iowa, the son of performers with Ringling Brothers Circus, is one of the few Jewish heavyweights in the ring in spite of the fact that he is the German champion and did most of his fighting in England where he conquered all the top notchers.

Sandwina made such an impressive showing in one fight in England against [illegible] in what Britons will ever regard as the greatest heavyweight bout ever witnessed in London, that the Prince of Wales and his younger brother, Prince Henry, sought a meeting with the popular boxer.

The second ten-rounder on the card should provide just as keen action as the windup, for Roy Mitchell, Canadian heavyweight champion, who clashes with Nello Tassi, light heavyweight titleholder of Italy, is out to firmly entrench himself with Hub fistic followers.

Sharkey to Fight Delaney April 30

Jack Sharkey and Jack Delaney have come to terms with Tex Rickard for a 15-round battle at Madison Square Garden on April 30.

Rickard landed this "natural" by agreeing to the demands of Johnny Buckley, manager of Sharkey.

Rickard's original offer for the bout, submitted to Buckley by Jess McMahon was rejected. After a three-hour conference at the Garden last Saturday, Buckley called off negotiations and returned to Boston.

McMahon later talked over the long distance telephone with Rickard at Miami. Tex advised McMahon to grant Buckley's terms.

In the event that either Sharkey or Delaney scores with a sensational knockout, the winner may be signed to battle Tunney for the title.

CHAPTER 36

"YOU'RE awfully thin and beautiful!" said Jerry laughing and surveying him with open pleasure.

"Left wine and all my women at home. So I [illegible] but to be good. And keep the hair on my temples. I'll have to do that for some time. Walk the chalk line, which you'll be pleased to hear."

"You're going into it with an awful bang, aren't you?"

"I've got to. I'm late in starting. [illegible] month [illegible] around [illegible] means."

[illegible] on it? At [illegible]

"Had help with suggestions of [illegible]. But the [illegible] will be [illegible]—and the risk."

"You mean the money end of it? [illegible] going to ask you for the cost."

"He can't. He's tied up in another deal."

"It's going to take a heap of money, isn't it? With three men working? You shan't have to mortgage your soul for it, I hope."

"It's going to cost plenty," said he slowly. "I've got it figured out to the pennies. I think I've just about enough to get by."

"All on your own, Saxon!"

He reached for a pad and paper and began to figure—smiling as he did so. "Lady Luck was with me last year. I made some good money. And despite my wild ways, saved most of it."

He set down initials and opposite these were figures. "Some nice [illegible] job that I [illegible] myself in the last year and a half, Jerry. I've $[illegible]"

"Oh, you've $[illegible] all your own!"

"And I figure it will just about squeak me by. If I lose I'll be cleaned [illegible] Jerry, if I win."

He grinned down at her with eager [illegible] tenderness. "Do you think me a fool to have gambled it all—everything on this one chance?"

"[illegible]" said she brimming with relief and hypnotized by his fervor. "You won't lose. Even if you lose, you [illegible] going into it like this."

It could scarcely be plainer. He had $5,[illegible] of his own. He would get by on [illegible] and no thanks to Mary Pennings.

Jerry Was Sure Saxon Knew Nothing of These Dreams

Perhaps Mary [illegible] Perhaps Mary [illegible] so that she could [illegible] money and share in the glory of victory. So that she could [illegible] Saxon the greatest [illegible] in the country. He has the stuff [illegible]

Jerry was convinced that Saxon knew nothing of these feminine dreams.

"[illegible] glad to see you up and at [illegible] dear."

"What's your [illegible]?" [illegible] he [illegible] her hand as she turned [illegible] "Stick around a bit and [illegible] chat. I've a minute. How are things going with [illegible] Jerry?"

"Too quickly when it's silk stockings."

"And other things."

"Such as love in a [illegible]," said she, whistling a merry 'Hello.'

"[illegible] such as love in London. I [illegible] and [illegible] Hammond are [illegible]. Is that true?"

"Engaged! Why, my dear [illegible] Victorian. I [illegible] hope I [illegible] better [illegible] the [illegible] game is here as [illegible] may play. She [illegible]"

"Not yet."

She gave him a taunting smile. "Is that tribute or insult?"

"[illegible] truth, Jerry, am I a complete [illegible]?"

[illegible]

"Woman wants monogamy:
"Man delights in novelty
"Love is woman's moon and sun
"Man has other forms of fun
"Woman lives but in her lord,
"Count to ten and man is bored
"With this the gist and sum of it
"What earthly good can come of it?"

"Clever, but what does it make me, Jerry?"

She laughed and pulled from him, quoting with a shrug:

"Free, my love, to seek your newer way!
"I'll not be left in sorrow
"So long as I have yesterday.
"Go take your damned tomorrow!"

She Felt Happier Than for The Months Since They Parted

From the door she blew him a kiss: "I'd like that better at closer range, Jerry!"

"Gone are the snows of yesteryear." With her hand on the knob [illegible] "[illegible] luck to you! I'm glad you're [illegible] on your own. I'm awfully [illegible] about it."

"It's harder but it's better."

"Yes—the triumph is complete!"

She felt happier [illegible] onward, upward and onward, had filled and inspired her thought.

This dream was real. He was all that she fancied him or he could be—all this. She believed now with the eternal faith of the woman in love [illegible]

She would sit hours and hours reading to his child; talking to Stephanie, adoring him.

And Stephanie [illegible] for information [illegible] "He was awfully [illegible] and gay and you loved [illegible] Marza?"

"[illegible]"

"And I'm part of [illegible]"

[illegible]

"You'll miss [illegible] mother [illegible] when I'm on my [illegible] again."

"Yes. But I ha' years to make up."

Stephanie lying flat on her back went off into blithe, winging dreams. "[illegible] and gay one like you and Jerry!"

Often Jerry coming into the room [illegible] Stephanie [illegible]

The moment Marza was gone she turned fevered eyes to Jerry. "What the heck kept you? It's nearly six. [illegible]"

Then [illegible] opened. [illegible] turned white. She turned dark. [illegible] it?" [illegible]

A Great and Beautiful Picture

Hundreds of thousands among our readers will appreciate the beauty of this fine old painting.

It doesn't exactly realize the "Ziegfeld Follies" idea of beauty, or the ideas of some modern artists, as far removed from art as the moon is from the earth.

This picture will be a valuable painting a thousand years hence, if the canvas lasts that long, when the trash of today will have been thrown away.

Unfortunately, it is not possible to reproduce with our rapid printing in newspapers, turned out by hundreds of thousands of copies an hour, the delicate beauty of this old painting. But intelligent readers with an eye for spiritual beauty will find pleasure in this reproduction, none the less.

The picture is beautiful because it is TRUE, and true because it is beautiful.

In the face of the old Flemish mother you see concentration, simplicity, earnestness. Her life is devoted with all her love, to her husband and her children.

Her hands are [illegible] her face thin, earnest, her noble forehead plainly shown in its purity.

In the face of the man is care, hard work, seriousness, goodness.

And the children, a combination of father and mother, possess the happiness of childhood.

How pleasant and how natural to believe that this loving father and mother, and their four children, are all together in Heaven now, forever free from worry.

In the next issue Mr. Whitehead will explain the salient points in the bidding and play of this hand.

THE BIDDING

South, with three suits stopped and his unprotected suit one of three cards, correctly bids one No Trump West passing. North, though having five Spades to the Ace Queen refuses to take out with a Spade bid, having no distributional reason—that is, no singleton or void suit to warrant the assumption that there would be greater assurance of game with a Major suit as trump. With more than five Spades to the Ace Queen, or a singleton or void, the Spade take-out would have been in order.

THE PLAY

Trick 2. Declarer is prepared to lose one or two Spades in the establishment of the suit, but hopes to defer an immediate loss by a winning finesse that may at least temporarily shut East out from the return of the Diamond suit.

Trick 3. Declarer's low Spade from Dummy, to further the suit establishment, is won by East, and Declarer is helpless to stop the Diamonds.

Trick 6. East starts an echo in his best protected suit.

Trick 7. Declarer takes the first lead of Clubs as he must win all the remaining tricks for game.

Trick 10. East relies upon his partner's protection in Clubs, throwing his King to keep the Queen of Hearts twice guarded.

Trick 11. Declarer's Heart finesse is obligatory. The cards played clearly indicate West's holding as split 4-4-3-2. Therefore had West the Queen of Hearts he would have discarded Clubs, the suit shown by his partner.

THE MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE

By HELEN ROWLAND

WHAT is the best time for a girl to marry? Well, Doris, before he has had time to change his mind—say, just after the third kiss.

Men have died trying to find the secret of perpetual motion—but more of them have died violently, trying to make love to two women at the same time.

Sometimes a woman has to MARRY a man, in order to get him to "give her up, gracefully."

It is always dangerous to try to find out by experimenting just how fast your car will go, or just how far your husband will go.

"If you marry for money and a man loses it, what have you got left?" asks a feminine philosopher. Nothing! And if you marry for love and a man loses it, what have you got left? Nothing! Marriage is a sporting proposition, any way you take it.

Nothing so quickly dulls a man's interest in a woman as to find her exactly where he EXPECTED to find her.

You can't keep a good man down—and you can't pull a bad man very far up. The moment you relax your hold he slides right back to the old weakness or the other woman.

A woman's vanity is like a fountain pen, always running dry and having to be refilled; a man's is like a mountain spring, perpetually self-refilling from the depths of his beautiful and unquenchable complacency.

Love is not dead so long as your husband slams the door and rushes out in the middle of an argument. Wait until he goes to sleep in the middle of one.

WHAT A DOCTOR KNOWS ABOUT CONSTIPATION

There IS a way of overcoming the tendency to constipation. And here is how you can PROVE it.

The next time your bowels need any assistance, don't take the first laxative that comes to mind. Take one the druggist can assure you is made with CASCARA. Just as effective as using force, and it's good for the system. Indeed, it helps make good blood. For cascara is nothing but the bark of a tree. The Indians chew this bark, and live to an old age without a day's sickness.

What happens when you cascarize the bowels? They will usually function well for SEVERAL DAYS. One more dose—no larger, and perhaps smaller than the first—and the bowels function of their own accord for a still longer time. Until you don't feel the need of any aid of any sort for weeks-on-end.

So, the only habit you get from cascara is that of natural and normal regularity. How different from things one must usually repeat on the morrow! Cascara is the ideal laxative; and the familiar little candy cascaret is doubtless its ideal form. Children beg for these tasty tablets, and many men and women wouldn't think of taking ANYTHING else for the purpose. And EVERY drugstore has them.

MEDBURY SAYS— By John P. Medbury

WHAT this country needs is more bathtubs and fewer singers.

Yesterday's Tightwad

The fellow who always slapped his kid in the face so that he wouldn't wear out his pants.

Transportation Problems

According to the Inter-State Commerce Comission, a patrol wagon is a common carrier.

There's a train out west that's so slow it runs by another railroad's time table.

You're Right

No matter where the Standard Oil Company puts a pump, they always seem to strike gasoline.

Efficiency Experts

The man who wouldn't throw his blue serge coat away. He made his wife use it for a mirror.

Feminine Mathematics

Many a girl who thinks she's a perfect 36 should have herself audited.

Our Own Vaudeville

Dot—I understand that Cozette took advantage of leap year and proposed to that magazine writer, but was turned down.

Dash—Yes, he sent her a rejection slip.

You're Wrong

The U. S. government has no reservations for cigar store Indians.

Chicago night clubs are not blackjacks.

Auto-Suggestion

The price of gas might come down if Rockefeller would stop giving away all those dimes.

Social Errors

The fellow who thought he was born with a silver spoon in his mouth and then found out it was a knife.

Take It or Leave It

Scotchman indorsed a well known cigarette the other day by claiming it was the brand he always borrowed.

Vital Statistics

Now that the disposal of razor blades has been settled, what is Lindbergh going to do with all his old medals?

Among the Illiterati

Judging from all the soap testimonials, a lot of people must be taking baths just to get their pictures in the paper.

Ideal Dumbbells

The guy who always puts on a riding habit when he plays the horses.

Idiotorials

From the way the foreigners are kicking about our laws, you'd think that the Americans were trying to run this country.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches rub on good old Musterole.

Musterole relieves the congestion and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief. Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Book of Month Club Picks Best Costume Picture

HOW many letters beginning with the words "Dear Sir or Madame" can you find in the above picture, showing Norman Kerry in another costume film, "Nanook of the North"? This is practically the most beautiful still of the month, yielding 80 gallons a day. And when she realized that she was in the grasp of the mad octogenarian, Phyllis phainted.

YES, BUT WHAT IS THE DOC'S ADDRESS?

(From Health Column)

"For insomnia due to toothache Dr. Calender recommends a pepper plaster. To make this, soak a piece of thick flannel in brandy. Sprinkle freely with black pepper. Apply over the jaw."

Why not merely wring out the flannel and throw it away?

How in the world could the victim sleep, knowing he had treated brandy that way?

ON GOING DOWN HILL

(In the back seat)

Hold tight! Here we go!
Holy Fishcake, take it slow!
Trust the gear and save the brake;
Watch the road, for Heaven's sake!
All my feet are in my toes,
Heart in mouth and mouth in nose,
Stomach where the lungs should be,
Null and void the rest of me.

Steeper yet—oh, fluttering fears—
Hear my prayers, ye groaning gears!
Horrors, this is far too swift.
What if Poppa's gall stones shift
Throwing ballast all away?
Ah, we're down! Old hill, GOOD-BY!

—LESLIE CURTIS.

CALL MONEY IS HIGHER IN N. Y.

When sales crossed the 2,500,000-share mark at 1 p. m., the ticker was 24 minutes behind the market. Boston stock exchange houses resorted to the long distance telephone and telegraph wires to get late quotations.

Rails swung into prominence. Texas & Pacific was up more than $10 a share at $134.75. New York Central sold at 180⅝ for the first time in history. Northern Pacific, and Rock Island were at new high marks.

Commercial Solvents, American Smelting, Consolidating Gas, S. H. Kress, Montgomery Ward and others sold up $3 to $6 a share.

General Motors was soft most of the session. U. S. Steel sold unchanged in the last hour.

In Boston, Eastern Mass. St. Ry. issues sold unchanged, despite legislative committee vote to report the bill extending public control for five years.

Boston & Maine common sold at $68, up $3, the best price in years. This was in appreciation of the excellent earnings statement for February just issued.

What a year for listening! Don't be left out

PRESIDENTIAL year! Politics popping all over the lot! Remember "Twenty-four votes for Underwood" four years ago? Remember how you said the thrill of that one convention repaid many times the price of your radio set? Remember what you missed if you had no radio—or a poor one?

This year radio is playing a much bigger part. Both parties are preparing for a campaign inside American homes—by radio.

Tunney is signed to fight twice. Man! What a year—by radio.

And the programs NOW. Tonight! Tomorrow night! The headliners of music—of politics—of everything—are on the air—NOW. Don't put off buying your new Atwater Kent A. C. set until the last moment before the conventions. Enjoy the wonderful things radio brings now. When summer comes—you're ready.

Get the set that's always ready—for a convention, a concert, a fight or a frolic—the modern set—the set that has changed everybody's conception of radio—that is going into far more homes than any other—the new self-contained A. C. set—the Atwater Kent 37.

Batteries can't run down—for there are no batteries. The house current costs only a fraction of a cent an hour. And the Full-vision Dial, which you read at a glance! How swiftly and surely and clearly it brings in your station!

The modern cabinet in various color combinations is no larger than a child's suit case. The price is compact, too—because public demand has permitted us to effect amazing economies of manufacture. The program you can't afford to miss is EVERY NIGHT. Listen with the Atwater Kent 37. You'll see!

RADIO DIALOG

THE WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION will join the ranks of broadcasting magazines at 8 o'clock this evening, and will be heard in an hour's program on alternating Wednesdays. The hour will feature The Home Companion Girl. She, in turn, will introduce other characters, including "The Postscript Man." The programs, themselves, will be based upon the contents of The Woman's Home Companion and will be presented by The Woman's Home Companion Players. A concert orchestra and vocal soloists will assist.

Phil Cook, entertainer and singer of comedy songs, will be the guest artist during the Champion Sparkers' broadcast through WBZ at 8 tonight. Cook's numbers will include a novelty recitation with orchestral accompaniment, and two of his own compositions, "No Face Like Your Own" and "Dear Little Gad-About."

A PIANO arrangement of songs from the "Connecticut Yankee" is scheduled by the Ipana Troubadours for their WEEI broadcast tonight. Dave Grupp, the Ipana drummer will be at one piano in this number and Harry Merker, the regular pianist of the Ipana Orchestra, will be at another. The medley will include "My Heart Stood Still," "I Feel at Home with You" and "Thou Swell."

Songs which have stood the test of time will be sung by the Sylvania Foresters during tonight's program heard through WBZ at 8:30. The quartet includes Milton J. Cross, first tenor; Maurice Tyler, second tenor; Walter Preston, baritone, and Marley R. Sherris, bass. They will sing "Nellie Was a Lady," "Just a Cottage Small," "There Is a Tavern in the Town," "The Sunshine of Your Smile" and "Till We Meet Again." Godfrey Ludlow, violin soloist, will play "Who Knows?"

THE Norwich Musical Clubs of 40 voices will broadcast from WBET tonight at 9. The clubs are in Boston to give two concerts, one at the Roxbury Latin School on Friday and the other at the annual dinner of the Norwich Club of Boston on Saturday. Norwich University of Northfield, Vermont, is one of the oldest engineering institutions in the country, having been founded in 1819. Military training forms an important part of its curriculum. This will be the first Boston appearance of the clubs this season.

Dance melodies from Goldmark's "The Queen of Sheba" are to be one of the outstanding features of the Kolster Radio Hour, to be broadcast through WNAC and 16 associated stations of the Columbia Broadcasting System at 9 o'clock tonight. In addition to the Kolster Radio Symphony Orchestra, this program will present the Kolster Radio Male Quartet, tenor, baritone, soprano, flutist and violinist.

A STUDIO Party broadcast tonight by the Columbia Phonograph Company at 10 o'clock, will be devoted to "Spring." Those who will take part include Jan Garber and his orchestra, Don Voorhees and his orchestra, Red Nichols and his Charleston Chasers, and the Cavaliers. The singers are Rodolfo Hoyos, Mexican tenor; the Ponce Sisters, vaudeville favorites, and the singing comedian, Frank Harris.

A program of Hawaiian melodies, the type that draws many a sigh for Southern climes, was played by Signor Friscoe and his Guatemalen Ensemble over WLOE last night, during Loew's State Variety Hour. Perhaps because it is seldom heard, Hawaiian music is always welcomed by radio audiences. The program by Friscoe and his troupe, who are playing this week at Loew's State Theater, also included popular numbers, played in real South American style.

4. Federal action to the limit of Federal Government powers to abolish illiteracy among the people of the United States, and the creation of a Secretary of Education.

What Natick Knows

The Tax RATE Signifies Little; How Big Is Your Tax BILL—and WHY?

Boston reporters who read last week that Natick will have the highest tax rate of the year—$56.30 on each $1000 of assessed valuation—received the surprise of their young lives when they visited the town seeking the views of irate taxpayers.

There were none!

The general attitude appeared to be summed up in "Yes? What of it?"

When Natick's 4688 voters were notified not long ago of a public meeting at which the Board of Assessors would hear complaints and consider requests for reductions, FIFTEEN of them put in an appearance.

Seven asked for lower valuations on real estate; eight protested against the "high" valuations placed on their automobiles.

In some towns this "highest-tax-rate-in-the-State" notoriety would be looked upon as harmful, disagreeable. What is the explanation of Natick's equanimity?

Simply this, that while the tax RATE is high, VALUATIONS are low.

For example: An $8,000 house in Natick is valued for the purpose of taxation at $2500. In any other community it might be valued at $6000.

At $56.30 on the thousand, the Natick owner pays a tax of $140.75.

Suppose he lived in a town where valuations are high, while the tax rate is low, $25 say. On a valuation of $6000 he would be called upon in that town to pay the tax collector $150.

It looks like a case of "as broad as it is long," but the natural effect of "highest tax rate" fame is to scare off the investor. Shoe manufacturers have made money in Natick, but the shoe manufacturer a hundred miles away, looking for a new location, loses interest in Henry Wilson's town the minute he is told the tax rate.

Next year, the story may be different. The assessors are "equalizing" valuations, following to the Cambridge or block-and-map system. The new method will become operative in 1929. The RATE may be much lower, but valuations will be boosted to meet it. Natick taxpayers will be no happier. There is NO way to reduce TAXES, as has been said so often this past year or two, except by CUTTING EXPENDITURES.

Very Rich

But Just a Little Stingy

DON'T BE MEAN ABOUT IT

This picture by Mr. Fitzpatrick in the St. Louis Post Dispatch shows Uncle Sam saying to the farmer drowned out in the Mississippi Valley: "You pay part and I'll pay part." The impoverished victim of the Mississippi flood says: "But the United States Treasury wasn't flooded."

The suggestion that a great part of the cost of making the Mississippi safe be put upon the farmers recently flooded in the Mississippi Valley and on the few States in which the work of protection would actually be done is a rather mean suggestion.

Seven States under that ruling would be taxed to pay for work that would benefit the United States.

As a matter of fact, more than thirty of the States pour their waters into the Mississippi. And the waters from those States pouring down through the Mississippi Valley cause the floods and all the damage.

Certainly if any States are to pay, the States that send the water into the Mississippi and drown out the people in the lower reaches should pay their full part.

Making the Mississippi River safe its entire length is not a work for individual States, but a work for the Nation.

THE WORK WILL BENEFIT THE ENTIRE NATION. When floods send tens of thousands from their homes and cause hundreds of millions of damage, wiping out the cotton crop of the great section, setting back the Nation's prosperity, it hurts everybody, not merely those whose farms and homes are washed away.

The Mississippi improvement, which ultimately will have as a feature a magnificent ship canal from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico, is an American enterprise, as much as the Panama Canal, or the building of a navy.

The work of making the Mississippi absolutely safe, and a great freight-carrying body of water, should be done BY THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES, NOT BY INDIVIDUAL STATES OR LAND OWNERS.

11 ELECTRIC SLAVES FOR FOUR PERSONS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

According to the Interior Department of the Government, every American family of four persons has 11 electric slaves working for it.

There were 80 billion kilowatt hours of power consumed last year and if converted into manpower that equals 11 electric slaves and costs the family about $75 a year.

This is the real population of the United States.

The day has passed when the census of a nation, to be properly understood, should include only human beings. China contains some four hundred million or so, but those millions are not nearly so effective as the much fewer people in the United States because the American people make much use of the forces of nature.

A man would make very slow progress in cutting down a tree with a jackknife, but with a buzz saw he can get along much faster. With his hands alone it would take him a long time to harvest a field of wheat, but with a McCormick harvester he can do much more than with his own unaided strength.

Man is a tool-using animal and every tool multiplies his efficiency by just so much.

Civilized armies conquer barbarians not because the soldiers of civilization are braver or stronger, but because of their superior weapons.

America raises more produce than China, not because Americans work harder and are stronger, but because they call upon the giant forces of nature to labor for them.

A man produces not so much by his own strength as by his ability to use all forms of power.

The automobile has replaced the horse because it never gets tired, and when it comes to an upgrade it does not go slow, but actually increases its speed.

The population of a country, therefore, is not to be numbered by its human units so much as by the ability of these units in some way to call upon the genii of nature to do their work for them.

The time is coming when machinery will do almost all the hand work of humanity, leaving human beings free to perfect their leadership and become great managers.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

If I were making the laws of this country I would force every girl to support herself for at least one year before marriage. Brides like Mabel might thus be avoided.

Mabel is one of those Sweet, Home Girls who still persist even in these strenuous days. Mabel went right from her father's home to her husband's—which was considered lovely by all her lady relations. As a matter of fact, where Mabel should have gone was the City Pound, that being just about her sphere of usefulness.

Mabel had never worked a day in her life. Of course, she had helped Mama a little with the chores, but she knew nothing whatever of the Rough, Bad World. She had spent 21 years of life dancing and bridging and singing little songs and pouring at teas and gushing around in general. Then she got terribly romantic and married Jim, who was earning $45 a week on our paper, and bought some pink, ruffled curtains and set up love in a cottage. And everyone (particularly Mabel) thought how lucky Jim was to get such a sweet, innocent, unspoiled young girl.

That was two years ago. And now if someone doesn't call the shotgun squad, there's going to be murder done in that love nest. And the pink ruffles will be quite ruined. And I won't blame Jim a bit. For Mabel is just what you might have expected her to be—a total loss.

Having never worked a day in her life, she hasn't the slightest conception of the value or meaning of labor. Or system. Or responsibility. Or punctuality. If she spends a couple of hours tidying up, and has to leave a bridge party half an hour early to get Jim's dinner, she thinks she's the world's worst slave. Most of the time she's all gummed up with self pity. She regards each act rendered as a Great Personal Sacrifice for which Jim should reward her with large gobs of devotion and gratitude.

Having always considered herself as a Prize Package, she has never realized that she is Just Another Biped in a busy world and that it's up to her to pay her own way. It has never occurred to her that she is a partner in a going concern and that it is her duty to run her end of the job smoothly, economically and efficiently, withoue assistance or brass bands.

The inevitable consequence of this ignorance and inexperience is that Mabel has become a whining, sloppy, unreliable nuisance. And Jim's contempt grows daily.

A year's work in an office would have prevented that. She would have learned, as a matter of course, to get up on time, bathe and dress herself neatly, be in the office promptly and, for the next eight hours, render snappy, polite service, without expecting a Croix de Guerre for doing the same. She would have learned to understand weariness and strain and masculine indifference. Particularly masculine indifference. She would have gotten over the idea that ladies who do these things are Christian martyrs and she would have developed a pride in her performance. In short, she would have become a Mature Working Woman, fit partner for a Mature Working Man.

One of these days Jim is going to fall violently in love with some bright, efficient, well groomed little stenographer and desert his lovely Mabel. Then all her relations will yip and roar and gnash their teeth and call him a ruffian. I won't. I'll think that Mabel has gotten just what was coming to her.

New York Day by Day

by O. O. McINTYRE

New York, March 28—New York no longer offers those illustrious theatrical families who live—with that strange aloofness the profession seems to create—in private homes. They have scattered to hotels, apartment houses, clubs and Hollywood villas.

In other days New York was "home" to the trouper and thoughts of getting back to the family hearth sustained him during trying days of one-night stands in kerosene lighted halls. Now that few players leave New York and could enjoy a home, they somehow do not want one.

The theatrical home was always interesting and different. Nobody got up until noon. Breakfast was served all over the house and a family never collected at the breakfast table at the same time. There was the early scramble for dinner and rush to the theater.

The big relaxing hour was after the play, members of the family would hurry home from their triumphs, bring their friends and enjoy the important meal of the day. Every New Yorker coveted an invitation permitting a peep into the private home life of a player.

In some ways the great theatrical families established one's social status. While players were rarely invited to 400 functions, a bid to their home gave a stamp of smartness to others. Their very eccentricities made them long remembered hosts and hostesses.

Talk carried the note of high suspense—the fervor of first nights, the struggle against closing, company jealousies and love affairs and all the other tensions the theater affords. There were a dozen or more explosions of temperament a day.

The homes were usually in confusion and yet it is proverbial few servants in theatrical families ever deserted their posts. They loved the excitement and gossip and would stay with employers through lean days without salary.

For years he has awakened in late afternoon in a flutter with a quinine taste and hazy memory of the night before. The other day the executor of his family's estate notified him he was selling the last block of his securities to meet pressing debts.

"What am I supposed to do now?" he whined.

"I am sure I do not know," was the slightly disgusted reply. "But keep up your average and do nothing decent."

Press agency for Broadway shows is becoming a highly organized business on the grand Ivy Lee scale. Several publicity purveyors teamed up and one concern handled twelve shows at the same time this year.

Theatrical press agency is looked upon a little differently from average publicity in New York newspaper shops. The metropolis being the theatrical capital, news of shows and players has more than ordinary value. In instances a story coming from a theatrical press agent has first page worth. The some sixty legitimate theatres in New York spend an aggregate of $3,000,000,000 a year for newspaper advertising.

An elevator sticking between floors is usually responsible for an explosion of New York nerves. One today in which I was riding caught between the 22d and 23d floors. It was crowded. There was a faint hysterical snicker, a hush and sudden pallor. One woman sighed and swooned against the side of the car. A broadshouldered man began to talk to himself. It was over in two minutes. I managed to keep my head. Still in the excitement I don't remember anyone in particular asking for it.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By Leola Allard

Paris says that women should have their evening gowns embroidered with semi-precious stones. And how?

Out of 89 missing persons reported to a morning newspaper last week 73 were men and only 6 women. Men must be easier to lose.

If you want to see an elegant show for nothing, go into some of the smart shops in the elegant Fifties in New York and watch the models ritzing the highly amused customers.

Paris dressmakers are moving to New York, but society women are still getting their divorces over there.

Women complain that the orphanages can't furnish enough babies for those who wish to adopt them. There is always a long waiting list and no one who asks for a baby ever seems to change her mind and drop out of the list. But at New York's lying-in hospital they announce that the stork calls there every two hours.

What with all his other calls, and so many women wanting second-hand babies, maybe we should have some more storks.

Mary Pickford was the last to take to short skirts, and then they were not very short, "because," Mary told you, "Doug hates them, and I dress to please him."

Irene Castle, who gave the world bobbed hair, is wearing her skirts half-way to her ankles. That settles the question of what's style in skirt lengths.

Ina Clair was preparing to spend the summer in Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Ashton Stevens rented a furnished apartment for her, and got her a very nice colored maid. When the maid saw Ina's beautiful negligee and got a glimpse of all her theatrical makeup on the dressing table, she put on her hat and walked out.

"I don't think it's the kind of a place for a nice colored girl," the maid told Mrs. Stevens.

Ina enjoyed that so much she didn't mind hunting for another maid.

Elephants and Ladies

Don't Blame the Elephants

Dr. Hoskins of Detroit learns that it takes forty men, working hard, with pulleys, nets, etc., to teach an elephant how to stand on its head.

It takes forty dressmakers, head-dressers, manicurists, etc., to make some extravagant women look as they do.

And the elephant, feet in the air, and the lady, dressed to kill, are equally unimportant.

Train the elephant to pile teakwood logs at home. Teach the rich woman to have ambition and make herself useful, and you will do something worth while. You can say for the elephant that he would rather do good work, and not stand on his head. That cannot always be said for the lady.

In Italy They Mean It

27 Years Are 27 Years

In his Sicilian bandit and Mafia abolishing campaign, Mussolini has sent sixty-seven persons to prison for terms running from two to twenty-seven years.

In Italy, a man sentenced for twenty-seven years, stays in prison twenty-seven years, unless he dies.

In glorious crime-ridden America a little lady admits that she killed her husband, having "lost her taste for him." But she is not downhearted. "I shall be eligible for parole in ten years, and almost anything can happen before then. So I have something to look forward to."

Another husband has also something to look forward to.
